For NATO Trainers to Repair Time to Prepare Afghan Troops to Go it Alone

KARDEL - Lieutenant Colonel Jonathan Chung, leading a team of 13 NATO trainers, said the prox-

KARDEL - Lieutenant Colonel Jonathan Chung, leading a team of 13 NATO trainers, said the province is due to take over the training mission in August. However, he added that it may be delayed due to the ongoing security situation. The security situation in the province has improved since the Taliban was toppled from power in 2001. However, the security situation remains volatile in many areas, and the trainees are exposed to the risk of suicide attacks and other forms of violence.

For NATO Trainers to Repair Time to Prepare Afghan Troops to Go it Alone

KARDEL - Lieutenant Colonel Jonathan Chung, leading a team of 13 NATO trainers, said the province is due to take over the training mission in August. However, he added that it may be delayed due to the ongoing security situation. The security situation in the province has improved since the Taliban was toppled from power in 2001. However, the security situation remains volatile in many areas, and the trainees are exposed to the risk of suicide attacks and other forms of violence.

For NATO Trainers to Repair Time to Prepare Afghan Troops to Go it Alone

KARDEL - Lieutenant Colonel Jonathan Chung, leading a team of 13 NATO trainers, said the province is due to take over the training mission in August. However, he added that it may be delayed due to the ongoing security situation. The security situation in the province has improved since the Taliban was toppled from power in 2001. However, the security situation remains volatile in many areas, and the trainees are exposed to the risk of suicide attacks and other forms of violence.

For NATO Trainers to Repair Time to Prepare Afghan Troops to Go it Alone

KARDEL - Lieutenant Colonel Jonathan Chung, leading a team of 13 NATO trainers, said the province is due to take over the training mission in August. However, he added that it may be delayed due to the ongoing security situation. The security situation in the province has improved since the Taliban was toppled from power in 2001. However, the security situation remains volatile in many areas, and the trainees are exposed to the risk of suicide attacks and other forms of violence.

For NATO Trainers to Repair Time to Prepare Afghan Troops to Go it Alone

KARDEL - Lieutenant Colonel Jonathan Chung, leading a team of 13 NATO trainers, said the province is due to take over the training mission in August. However, he added that it may be delayed due to the ongoing security situation. The security situation in the province has improved since the Taliban was toppled from power in 2001. However, the security situation remains volatile in many areas, and the trainees are exposed to the risk of suicide attacks and other forms of violence.

For NATO Trainers to Repair Time to Prepare Afghan Troops to Go it Alone

KARDEL - Lieutenant Colonel Jonathan Chung, leading a team of 13 NATO trainers, said the province is due to take over the training mission in August. However, he added that it may be delayed due to the ongoing security situation. The security situation in the province has improved since the Taliban was toppled from power in 2001. However, the security situation remains volatile in many areas, and the trainees are exposed to the risk of suicide attacks and other forms of violence.

For NATO Trainers to Repair Time to Prepare Afghan Troops to Go it Alone

KARDEL - Lieutenant Colonel Jonathan Chung, leading a team of 13 NATO trainers, said the province is due to take over the training mission in August. However, he added that it may be delayed due to the ongoing security situation. The security situation in the province has improved since the Taliban was toppled from power in 2001. However, the security situation remains volatile in many areas, and the trainees are exposed to the risk of suicide attacks and other forms of violence.

For NATO Trainers to Repair Time to Prepare Afghan Troops to Go it Alone

KARDEL - Lieutenant Colonel Jonathan Chung, leading a team of 13 NATO trainers, said the province is due to take over the training mission in August. However, he added that it may be delayed due to the ongoing security situation. The security situation in the province has improved since the Taliban was toppled from power in 2001. However, the security situation remains volatile in many areas, and the trainees are exposed to the risk of suicide attacks and other forms of violence.

For NATO Trainers to Repair Time to Prepare Afghan Troops to Go it Alone

KARDEL - Lieutenant Colonel Jonathan Chung, leading a team of 13 NATO trainers, said the province is due to take over the training mission in August. However, he added that it may be delayed due to the ongoing security situation. The security situation in the province has improved since the Taliban was toppled from power in 2001. However, the security situation remains volatile in many areas, and the trainees are exposed to the risk of suicide attacks and other forms of violence.

For NATO Trainers to Repair Time to Prepare Afghan Troops to Go it Alone

KARDEL - Lieutenant Colonel Jonathan Chung, leading a team of 13 NATO trainers, said the province is due to take over the training mission in August. However, he added that it may be delayed due to the ongoing security situation. The security situation in the province has improved since the Taliban was toppled from power in 2001. However, the security situation remains volatile in many areas, and the trainees are exposed to the risk of suicide attacks and other forms of violence.

For NATO Trainers to Repair Time to Prepare Afghan Troops to Go it Alone

KARDEL - Lieutenant Colonel Jonathan Chung, leading a team of 13 NATO trainers, said the province is due to take over the training mission in August. However, he added that it may be delayed due to the ongoing security situation. The security situation in the province has improved since the Taliban was toppled from power in 2001. However, the security situation remains volatile in many areas, and the trainees are exposed to the risk of suicide attacks and other forms of violence.

For NATO Trainers to Repair Time to Prepare Afghan Troops to Go it Alone

KARDEL - Lieutenant Colonel Jonathan Chung, leading a team of 13 NATO trainers, said the province is due to take over the training mission in August. However, he added that it may be delayed due to the ongoing security situation. The security situation in the province has improved since the Taliban was toppled from power in 2001. However, the security situation remains volatile in many areas, and the trainees are exposed to the risk of suicide attacks and other forms of violence.