China, Russia Agree to Further Expand Investment, Energy Cooperation

MOGADISHU - China and Russia on Monday further expand investment, energy cooperation, a White House senior official told reporters.

The pledges came out of the fourth meeting of the China-Russia Strategic Energy Cooperation Committee, which President Donald Trump and Russian President Vladimir Putin launched last year.

Following the meeting, the two leaders said they would expand the cooperation between the two countries, turning their relationship into a high-level political and economic partnership.

China's National Energy Administration said the two countries need to deepen their economic and technological exchanges, promoting innovation and extending cooperation to other fields.

The two countries need to better understand each other's thoughts and view the third-party market, the official added.

Nawaz Hits out at PPP: ‘Votes are Earned Through Actions, Not Slogans’

ISLAMABAD - Pakis-tan Prime Minister Nawaz Sharif said Saturday that he was not going to consult with the opposition as he announced a no-confidence motion against the Shahbaz Sharif-led provincial government.

“We have not come empty-handed before the Pakistan Supreme Court. I have come with my pocket full, the said the prime minister.

Taking a swipe at the ruling Pakistan Tehreek- e-Insaf, he added that the opposition had failed to build mosques or even to provide clean drinking water.

“I have not come empty-handed before the Pakistan Supreme Court. I have come with my pocket full, said the prime minister.
