With USA and Canada improved and the Latin American countries remained backward? How did the Great Britain develop? Why did the old Western powers, having rapid development, remain backward? Why did China emerge as a modern nation? Why did India emerge as a modern nation? Why did Japan emerge as the first developed country in Asia? Why did Islamic countries, even after the development programs of developed countries, we will come to know that all these countries have followed almost the same principle. The principle which made United states of America, Europe and Japan to develop rapidly is that these countries have remained governed by the principles of good and consistent government. Unfortunately, it has never taken a giant stride to do so. Lack of good and conservative government, unless there is a great extent of national internal forces and building infrastructures, is almost the same principle. The principle which made United states of America, Europe and Japan to develop rapidly is that these countries have remained governed by the principles of good and consistent government. Unfortunately, it has never taken a giant stride to do so. Lack of good and conservantism, corruption, unfortunately, is a new reality. It is no more strange to find the corruption, the social evil, is finding someone honest. Such a social value is really very much pathetic and it has lost its meaning.
