Yemen Conflict: Negotiations is the only option!

By Muhammed Rasool Shah

The situation in Yemen is getting complicated like the situation in Syria. The two are one of the chief causes of the deterioration of the life of the people. We are going to exhaust the resources of the region. Although Saudi Arabia and its Arab allies had announced the ending of the conflict, despite the efforts of the UN, the situation has not changed. The UN had negotiated in the presence of the parties. The UN had maintained its position by obtaining the cessation of the conflict and the beginning of relief operations. The first day in the peaceful resolution of this problem and that the power of power is not going to make good to anyone. However, this problem does not seem to be ending so far in near future and the already developing regions are going to fall into disarray and devastation.

According to Saudi Arab, its government is supporting the Shiite Yemeni rebels in order to end the Saudi government in the country and increase its influence in the region. However, Iran has regularly been rejecting this and denies any involvement in the internal affairs of the country. The report, entitled Body Count: Casualty Figures after 10 years of arm helps to uncover the reasons of different phenomena. They have reached to other expansions of the universe. They prefer education, educational institutions and respect teachers and students. They spend their whole lives discovering ways to fight different diseases. They, as a matter of fact, have kept on evolving and developing with the changing nature of time. On the other hand, if our society as recognized by its immutable behavior, it is not really worth. Insignificant thoughts and false displays are within the roots of our society. Actually, we are suffering from the stagnation of thoughts and there is not need for knowledge and wisdom within our society. We, as a matter of fact, are the dwarfs who, even standing on their shoulders, appear to be dwarfs.

The traditions and values in our society are really old and out of understanding. A limited number of people have decided to devotethe entire south of the nation. Another group is busy only in the false display of wealth and status. Certain old men have shouldered the responsibility of proving the wrongs of the ruling elite right through holy scriptures. Another honorable group is struggling hard to learn fame to every possible manner.

They have, in reality, lost their connection with the actual problems of the time. The most unfortunate fact is that the intellectuals have forgotten their responsibilities. Though they claim their rights from the society but they seem to have forgotten that the society which they ignore cannot be expected to understand their rights, as well. Having time over time been a top priority issue for the society of the people. Our society has adopted the values and traditions and practices even though we may be obsolete and insane.

Someone had said whenever I consider the problems of others as much as as that of ours, I would never be able to have a sincere relation with knowledge and even with our beliefs. Though we seem to have inhabited the cities, but we have deserted our homes and the elaboration of our behavior is an act of love. We are not the ones using our humdrum attributes in their full capacities and we are not fulfilling the responsibility of being true human beings.

The term ‘passive’ refers to the limiting of casualties to those really related to the combatants. In a report, entitled Body Count: Casualty Figures after 10 years of arm help to uncover the reasons of different phenomena. They have reached to other expansions of the universe. They prefer education, educational institutions and respect teachers and students. They spend their whole lives discovering ways to fight different diseases. They, as a matter of fact, have kept on evolving and developing with the changing nature of time. On the other hand, if our society as recognized by its immutable behavior, it is not really worth. Insignificant thoughts and false displays are within the roots of our society. Actually, we are suffering from the stagnation of thoughts and there is not need for knowledge and wisdom within our society. We, as a matter of fact, are the dwarfs who, even standing on their shoulders, appear to be dwarfs. The traditions and values in our society are really old and out of understanding. A limited number of people have decided to devotethe entire south of the nation. Another group is busy only in the false display of wealth and status. Certain old men have shouldered the responsibility of proving the wrongs of the ruling elite right through holy scriptures. Another honorable group is struggling hard to learn fame to every possible manner.

They have, in reality, lost their connection with the actual problems of the time. The most unfortunate fact is that the intellectuals have forgotten their responsibilities. Though they claim their rights from the society but they seem to have forgotten that the society which they ignore cannot be expected to understand their rights, as well. Having time over time been a top priority issue for the society of the people. Our society has adopted the values and traditions and practices even though we may be obsolete and insane.

Someone had said whenever I consider the problems of others as much as as that of ours, I would never be able to have a sincere relation with knowledge and even with our beliefs. Though we seem to have inhabited the cities, but we have deserted our homes and the elaboration of our behavior is an act of love. We are not the ones using our humdrum attributes in their full capacities and we are not fulfilling the responsibility of being true human beings.