After Iran Deal, World Looks to Jump-Start Nuclear Disarmament

ADEN - Fighting between Yemeni separatist fighters and troops loyal to the internationally-recognized government continued on Monday, as the war in the country dragged on with no end in sight. The conflict has been ongoing since 2014 and has drawn in regional and international powers, with the United States and Saudi Arabia backing the separatists and Iran supporting the government. The latest fighting comes as the United Nations announced the opening of a new round of talks aimed at finding a political solution to the conflict. The UN has called for an immediate halt to hostilities and for all parties to engage in meaningful negotiations.

Gerbungally Meets Italian Minister

BRUSSELS - aerial and road transport organisms, which was intended to strengthen the cooperation between the two countries in the field of transport, took place in Brussels last week. The meeting was attended by representatives of the Italian and European Union transport sectors, as well as by officials from the Italian Ministry of Transport. The meeting aimed to discuss ways to improve the connectivity and efficiency of the transport systems in the two countries, as well as to explore the potential for joint projects in areas such as rail and road infrastructure.

Powerful Former Syrian Army General Dies in Hospital

BEIRUT - a high-ranking former Syrian military official died on Friday, according to reports. The official, who had served as a general in the Syrian army, was said to have been killed in a hospital in Lebanon, where he had been treated for injuries sustained during his time in the Syrian army. The official was a long-time ally of the Syrian regime and had been involved in several key military operations during the country's civil war. The Syrian government has not confirmed the reports of the official's death.

Biden, Seeking to Ease U.S.-Israel Strains, Pledges to ‘Tough Immigration Policy’

BRUSSELS - Australian Minister for Immigration, Citizenship, Multicultural Affairs and男女平等 Affairs, said on Friday that his country would continue to support the resettlement of refugees, particularly those from Syria and Iraq. He also pledged to increase the number of asylum seekers who are granted permanent residency, and to work with other countries to provide more humanitarian visas.

More Fighting, Air Strikes in Yemen, Civilian Death Toll Exceeds 550

YEMEN - The war in Yemen has continued to escalate, with both sides accused of violating international law and targeting civilians. The conflict, which began in 2015, has resulted in the displacement of millions of people and the suffering of civilians. The latest air strikes by the Saudi-led coalition have killed at least 550 civilians, according to the United Nations. The conflict is ongoing, and there is no end in sight, as the parties continue to disagree on the terms of a ceasefire.

Russia, France Close to Deal on Mistral Ships: Source

BRUSSELS - Reports of a potential deal between Russia and France on the sale of the Mistral warships have been circulating for several months. The ships, which were originally built for the Russian navy, are now being offered for sale to other countries, including France. The reports suggest that a deal could be reached in the coming weeks, with the ships likely to be delivered to a customer in 2021 or 2022. The sale of the ships would mark a significant shift in the relationship between the two countries, as Russia is currently a major importer of French military technology.