12 Miliants Die in Afghanistan In Die in Four-Month SKOPJE - At least 14 illegal immigrants have been killed in a train accident in the Afghan province of Paktika.

KABUL – The death toll from an illegal immigration incident in Afghanistan has reached 14, according to the Afghan government.

The incident occurred in the eastern province of Paktika, near the border with Pakistan, where several Afghan border guards were killed.

The Afghan government has confirmed that the incident took place near the border with Pakistan's Khost province.

MILITANTS Launch Attacks on Kunar Check Points ASABADAD - Taliban launched coordinated attacks on three districts of eastern Kunar province, a statement from the Ministry of Defense said.

The Taliban said in a statement that they have killed 10 Afghan soldiers and wounded another 15 in the attacks.

The attacks are the latest in a series of Taliban assaults in eastern Afghanistan, which have been ramping up in recent weeks.

Land Mafia Destroys Helmand Forests LAVAKH GAI – Land mafia ruthlessly cut down forests on more than 8,000 acres of land and seized the swathes during the past four decades in southeastern Afghanistan’s Helmand province, an official said on Thursday.

According to Helmand provincial Administrative Director Rafiullah Qalam, the land mafia has been cutting down forests in the province for the past four decades.

The land mafia has been exploiting the forests for their economic benefits and has been cutting down forests to gain access to valuable resources.

The official said that the land mafia has been cutting down forests in the province for the past four decades, but the area has been under the control of security forces.

“Land mafia ruthless cut down forests but the areas had been under the control of security forces,” Qalam said.

Director Qalam added that the land mafia has been cutting down forests to gain access to valuable resources.

New Plastic Chair Factory Could Mark Start of New Domestic Industry KABUL – An investment of USD 150 million has helped launch a plastic chair production company in Kabul that hopes to corner the market in Afghanistan, and help launch a plastic chair factory in Kabul.

The operation, the statement said, was aimed at purging all areas of antisocial activities.

“We can meet all the requirements of the local market and the production of plastic chairs in Kabul is a big idea about what the next step is,” said Qalam.

“We have the potential to produce plastic chairs in Kabul and this is a new market for us,” he said.

The company will be located in the old factory in Kabul district, 17.6 acres in Kamtak area.

“A new factory will be established in Kamtak area,” Qalam said.

The operation, the statement said, was aimed at purging all areas of antisocial activities.

“Last year, the production of plastic chairs in Kabul was 1,000 units a day,” said Qalam.

The company will be located in the old factory in Kabul district, 17.6 acres in Kamtak area.

“A new factory will be established in Kamtak area,” Qalam said.

The company will be located in the old factory in Kabul district, 17.6 acres in Kamtak area.

“A new factory will be established in Kamtak area,” Qalam said.

New Plastic Chair Factory Could Mark Start of New Domestic Industry KABUL – An investment of USD 150 million has helped launch a plastic chair production company in Kabul that hopes to corner the market in Afghanistan, and help launch a plastic chair factory in Kabul.

The operation, the statement said, was aimed at purging all areas of antisocial activities.

“We can meet all the requirements of the local market and the production of plastic chairs in Kabul is a big idea about what the next step is,” said Qalam.

“We have the potential to produce plastic chairs in Kabul and this is a new market for us,” he said.

The company will be located in the old factory in Kabul district, 17.6 acres in Kamtak area.

“A new factory will be established in Kamtak area,” Qalam said.

The company will be located in the old factory in Kabul district, 17.6 acres in Kamtak area.

“A new factory will be established in Kamtak area,” Qalam said.

New Plastic Chair Factory Could Mark Start of New Domestic Industry KABUL – An investment of USD 150 million has helped launch a plastic chair production company in Kabul that hopes to corner the market in Afghanistan, and help launch a plastic chair factory in Kabul.

The operation, the statement said, was aimed at purging all areas of antisocial activities.

“We can meet all the requirements of the local market and the production of plastic chairs in Kabul is a big idea about what the next step is,” said Qalam.

“We have the potential to produce plastic chairs in Kabul and this is a new market for us,” he said.

The company will be located in the old factory in Kabul district, 17.6 acres in Kamtak area.

“A new factory will be established in Kamtak area,” Qalam said.

The company will be located in the old factory in Kabul district, 17.6 acres in Kamtak area.

“A new factory will be established in Kamtak area,” Qalam said.

New Plastic Chair Factory Could Mark Start of New Domestic Industry KABUL – An investment of USD 150 million has helped launch a plastic chair production company in Kabul that hopes to corner the market in Afghanistan, and help launch a plastic chair factory in Kabul.

The operation, the statement said, was aimed at purging all areas of antisocial activities.

“We can meet all the requirements of the local market and the production of plastic chairs in Kabul is a big idea about what the next step is,” said Qalam.

“We have the potential to produce plastic chairs in Kabul and this is a new market for us,” he said.

The company will be located in the old factory in Kabul district, 17.6 acres in Kamtak area.

“A new factory will be established in Kamtak area,” Qalam said.

The company will be located in the old factory in Kabul district, 17.6 acres in Kamtak area.

“A new factory will be established in Kamtak area,” Qalam said.