Aryana Saved: Kabul Concert Goes Ahead Despite Threats

KABUL - Despite security concerns, a music concert went ahead in Kabul on Thursday. The concert was held amid tight security at the heavily guarded International Hotel. It was a rare music concert in the city. The concert was attended by a number of Afghan musicians and was originally scheduled to be held in Ghazi stadium to mark the country's Independence Day. More than 3,000 tickets were sold at premium rates. The authorities had announced that they could not guarantee security at that venue. Ms. Sayed did not give up the zone without her performance, but at a different venue. She fans were delighted. "Despite the threats, I didn't think such a big number of girls would attend here. Fortunately, the number of women is larger than men," said Bahar Saha, who attended the concert. "I looked at some of the girls."

Tehran Denies Arrest of Iranian Suicide Bomber in Afghanistan

KAIRABUL - The Islamic Republic of Iran's embassy in Kabul has rejected the claim that an Iranian suicide bomber has been arrested in Afghanistan. Officials at the Iranian embassy in Kabul have rejected the claim that security forces have apprehended an Iranian suicide bomber in Afghanistan's Nangarhar province. A press release by the Iranian embassy said that security forces in the Afghan government had, so far, presented no evidence or documents to prove the claim. The police chief of Kabul had told media two days earlier that an Iranian suicide bomber had been arrested while attacking a security checkpoint in the province. However, the Iranian embassy says it still cannot verify the reports as Kabul has presented no document that would prove the individual as an Iranian. The embassy's press release has not named any details of the bomber to avoid opening files for further investigation. "Of course, ISI-linked elements have already been arrested," the embassy said.
