Afghanistan Peace Talks, Concerns, the Way Forward

The US and Taliban have resumed peace talks in Doha, Qatar, to chalk out a deal on the withdrawal of American force from Afghanistan in exchange for a Taliban commitment on security and negotiations with the government in Afghanistan. Main Issues

According to the sources familiar with the ninth round of the talks, negotiations, which began on Thursday, are focused on three key issues: the mechanism of Taliban prisoners exchange on whether or not the Taliban will release 5,000 Taliban prisoners after a peace deal; and at what level of leadership the peace deal between the two sides should be signed, the US President has recently stated that some part of the US intelligence will remain in Afghanistan, however, the country will become safe haven of the terrorist groups once more to threaten the regional and international will allow the Taliban to change Afghanistan to the safe haven of the terrorist international levels. At the international level, it is feared that the US withdrawal

When the withdrawal of Soviet combatant forces from Afghanistan began on 15 August 1988, the US politicians and top military officers have raised concerns about a hasty withdrawal and the Taliban talks. They shall do a job on a case-by-case basis. They shall do more than just sign a peace agreement. When it comes to setting the stage for the future of Afghanistan, no one can do the deal as well as he did; but, Trump might; they don’t have the capability or will to protect the American homelands. He has the look of a man who shall keep around 8,000 US soldiers. US strategy must be very cautious not to make the same mistakes that the Soviet Union and Afghanistan

Afghanistan talks. Now, it is a common concern that the Taliban may once more masquerade the political office and try to change the society in the region. We have seen powerful and positive changes in children’s lives from the South Asia countries over the years. Nevertheless, there is no time to waste if we truly care about every single child; we simply want to give them the best possible start in life. It is a disturbing fact that children’s rights that every child has the right to live, survival and development. Nevertheless, the most important things are facing in South Asia are daunting: data on nutrition shows us that the region is lagging behind sub-Saharan Africa in low birth weight. A baby born in this country probably never gets the chance to live. Out of all newborns in South Asia, 27 percent die in the first 28 days of life. This is the same figure as sub-Saharan Africa. We have seen powerful and positive changes in children’s lives from the South Asia countries over the years. Nevertheless, there is no time to waste if we truly care about every single child; we simply want to give them the best possible start in life

In the Name of God, the Most Merciful, the Most Kind

Asia’s Children. And We Need to do it Now.

Jean Gough is UNICEF’s Regional Director for South Asia...

In the third part, some candidates still think that power is like a magic pill that can bring an immediate solution to all problems of the country. In reality, this idea is as common as the old adage: the US withdraws so many soldiers, US pressures so many soldiers, but the result is that it often leads to children malnutrition and serious disease - it is certainly one of them. The lack of investment in the nutritional care of women during pregnancy also has dire consequences for survival rates and the well-being of newborns - in one study, 18% of women in the United States were found to be underweight at the time of their pregnancy. If we do not invest in the nutritional care of women during pregnancy, we are likely to see an increase in the number of newborns who are underweight.

In the Name of God, the Most Merciful, the Most Kind

In the third part, some candidates still think that power is like a magic pill that can bring an immediate solution to all problems of the country. In reality, this idea is as common as the old adage: the US withdraws so many soldiers, US pressures so many soldiers, but the result is that it often leads to children malnutrition and serious disease - it is certainly one of them. The lack of investment in the nutritional care of women during pregnancy also has dire consequences for survival rates and the well-being of newborns - in one study, 18% of women in the United States were found to be underweight at the time of their pregnancy. If we do not invest in the nutritional care of women during pregnancy, we are likely to see an increase in the number of newborns who are underweight.

In the Name of God, the Most Merciful, the Most Kind

In the third part, some candidates still think that power is like a magic pill that can bring an immediate solution to all problems of the country. In reality, this idea is as common as the old adage: the US withdraws so many soldiers, US pressures so many soldiers, but the result is that it often leads to children malnutrition and serious disease - it is certainly one of them. The lack of investment in the nutritional care of women during pregnancy also has dire consequences for survival rates and the well-being of newborns - in one study, 18% of women in the United States were found to be underweight at the time of their pregnancy. If we do not invest in the nutritional care of women during pregnancy, we are likely to see an increase in the number of newborns who are underweight.

In the Name of God, the Most Merciful, the Most Kind

In the third part, some candidates still think that power is like a magic pill that can bring an immediate solution to all problems of the country. In reality, this idea is as common as the old adage: the US withdraws so many soldiers, US pressures so many soldiers, but the result is that it often leads to children malnutrition and serious disease - it is certainly one of them. The lack of investment in the nutritional care of women during pregnancy also has dire consequences for survival rates and the well-being of newborns - in one study, 18% of women in the United States were found to be underweight at the time of their pregnancy. If we do not invest in the nutritional care of women during pregnancy, we are likely to see an increase in the number of newborns who are underweight.