SOME high-level members of Security Council have applauded the UN resolution calling for a halt to the hostilities in the city of Helmand. The council met on 27 November 2018 at its headquarters in Geneva, Switzerland. Mohammad Nawaz Sharif, the deposed leader of Pakistan and current leader of the Pakistan Tehreek-e-Insaf (PTI) party, addressed the Security Council. Sharif, who is known for his efforts to improve relations with Afghanistan, discussed the ongoing conflict in the region and emphasized the need for a peaceful resolution.

According to Sharif, the current situation in the region is a result of the Indian policy of divide and rule. He highlighted the importance of promoting love, patriotism, and unity among Afghans, and this should be a priority for all governments. The Pakistani military has shown its continued support for the actions of the Afghan government and its partners in the region.

The council's resolution calls for an immediate cessation of hostilities and the withdrawal of all foreign troops. It also calls for a peaceful and negotiated solution to the conflict. The resolution was adopted unanimously by all members of the council.

The UN resolution is a significant step towards peace in the region. It is hoped that the council's resolution will be followed by concrete actions from all parties involved in the conflict. The international community must continue to support the efforts of the Afghan government and its partners in the region to achieve a peaceful and lasting solution.
