Conflict is an inherent part of society and politics. It exists in various forms and causes, often resulting from different interests, goals, or perceptions among individuals, groups, or nations. Conflict can be classified into various types, each with its unique characteristics and consequences.

Handling Conflicts Properly

Conflict is a complex phenomenon that affects every aspect of human life, from personal relationships to international relations. Understanding and managing conflicts effectively is crucial for maintaining peace, stability, and harmony in any setting.

Refugee Doctors for Refugee Health

By Vural Ozdemir

Refugee doctors often play a crucial role in providing healthcare to their fellow refugees and other displaced individuals. Their expertise and dedication are not only valuable but essential in ensuring that healthcare services are accessible and relevant.

The Globalization of Our Discontent

By Joseph E. Stiglitz

Globalization has led to a complex interplay of forces, including both positive and negative outcomes. While it has facilitated economic growth and connected people worldwide, it has also contributed to social unrest and economic inequality.

December 06, 2017

---

Editors and Opinion

Chairman / Editor-in-Chief: Moh. Reza Huwaida
Vice-Chairman: Kazim Ali Gulzari

Chairman / Editor-in-Chief: Moh. Reza Huwaida
Vice-Chairman: Kazim Ali Gulzari

Vural Özdemir is the winner of the 2001 Nobel Memorial Prize in Economic Sciences. His work on Globalization and its Discontents was published in 2002.

---

The views and opinions expressed in the articles are those of the authors and do not reflect the views or opinions of the Daily Outlook Afghanistan.