Ghani Vows Not to Compromise on Women’s Rights

President Ashraf Ghani has stressed the importance of women’s increased role in the country’s affairs and implementation of reforms, saying “a small minority cannot prevent positive changes.”

KABUL - First Lady Rula Ghani has said she wishes to learn more about Indonesia, especially in terms of the empowerment of women in her country.

The First Lady’s visit to Indonesia comes as a return visit after Indonesia Minister of Women’s Empowerment and Child Protection Yohana Yembise visited Afghanistan in May 2017. At the time, Yembise was a speaker at a symposium on the women’s empowerment in Afghanistan.

According to ANAUS News, Rula Ghani said she did not have much time to explore about Indonesia and therefore she wished to study more about Indonesia and its positive sides.

She stated that many things can be learned from Indonesia, especially in terms of the empowerment of women, including legal products, the process of eliminating discrimination and violence against women, conflict prevention, and movement of women, among others.

“I want to study more about Indonesia, especially in terms of the empowerment of women,” she said.

KABUL - First Lady Rula Ghani visited Afghanistan’s capital Kabul on Thursday evening.

First Lady Rula Ghani was also present at the meeting, a statement from the Presidential Palace said.

Razia Sultat Manjig and Sahida Multiga, members of the Wolesi Jirga and Sadaga Balkhi, member of the Mashrao Jirga or Senate, spoke on behalf of other parliamentarians.

The lawmakers voiced their support for the unity government’s strong policy and the reform agenda.

President Ghani said such meetings should continue and called for the unity government to improve opportunities for women in police, saying ‘a small minority cannot prevent positive changes.’

Quote of the Day

Try not to become a man of success but rather to become a man of value.

Albert Einstein (1879 - 1955)

KABUL - First Lady Rula Ghani has said she wishes to learn more about Indonesia, especially in terms of the empowerment of women in her country.

The First Lady’s visit to Indonesia comes as a return visit after Indonesia Minister of Women’s Empowerment and Child Protection Yohana Yembise visited Afghanistan in May 2017. At the time, Yembise was a speaker at a symposium on the women’s empowerment in Afghanistan.

According to ANAUS News, Rula Ghani said she did not have much time to explore about Indonesia and therefore she wished to study more about Indonesia and its positive sides.

She stated that many things can be learned from Indonesia, especially in terms of the empowerment of women, including legal products, the process of eliminating discrimination and violence against women, conflict prevention, and movement of women, among others.

“I want to study more about Indonesia, especially in terms of the empowerment of women,” she said.

KABUL - First Lady Rula Ghani visited Afghanistan’s capital Kabul on Thursday evening.

First Lady Rula Ghani was also present at the meeting, a statement from the Presidential Palace said.

Razia Sultat Manjig and Sahida Multiga, members of the Wolesi Jirga and Sadaga Balkhi, member of the Mashrao Jirga or Senate, spoke on behalf of other parliamentarians.

The lawmakers voiced their support for the unity government’s strong policy and the reform agenda.

President Ghani said such meetings should continue and called for the unity government to improve opportunities for women in police, saying ‘a small minority cannot prevent positive changes.’

Quote of the Day

Try not to become a man of success but rather to become a man of value.

Albert Einstein (1879 - 1955)