KABUL - Some Wolfo troops left for a meeting with visiting Afghan Second Vice President M. Venkaiah Naidu. He said that India supported Afghan-led, Afghan-owned and Afghan-controlled reconciliation efforts which should comply with internationally accepted red lines.

He said that recent months have seen intense and positive activity in the bilateral relationship between the two countries, while adding that Afghanistan can truly emerge as an important trade, investment and connectivity junction for the region. The visit comes as UNAMA has stepped its activities in Uruzgan since 2014. UNAMA's deputy special representative said his visit to the province was aimed at meeting the displaced families who had fled homes due to fighting over the past few months. According to him, they were increasing humanitarian aid because hundreds of families had found homes due to recent righting in the province. He said aid was currently being distributed and health services provided to the displaced families in Tinkiri, the provincial capital and it possible the aid would be extended to districts as well. Lanser went on to say that as their organization was impartial it wanted all sides to the war not to be a hurdle for or prevent dialogue and tedious for any. UNAMA deputy governor, Abdul Wahid Pattan, said he discussed some topics with the visiting UNAMA delegation, who assured him of every kind of support. The conflict. (More on P4-10).

UNAMA to Increase Aid for Conflict-Hit Uruzgan Families
