Individual Development in Social Life

By: Dilawar Sherza

Individual Development in Social Life

In a tribal setup, family plays a key role. It is the center of the entire social life. In fact, family is the only responsible life, the only one that is not subjected to the law of time, and the only one to whom the life of a person is subjected. Many people believe that the ideal of a family is a world where there is no concept of right and wrong. However, it is very difficult to understand this concept in a greater detail with open mind. As a matter of fact, the development of a person is highly dependent on various institutions; from the family, neighborhood, and local society to even the international community. As there are different personalities in them that imprint their marks on a person's psychology. It is difficult to say that a particular behavior with a person is the outcome of the family or the parents alone as there are different factors involved at the same time. Parents' neglect and their neglect have influence on the children, this cannot be rejected. It is believed and believed that such a mother and father is a symbol for a child's future. It can be a long journey between how a person is treated by his parents and his choice to commit an evil. Moreover, the imprints of parent's behavior on the minds of the children are not like reflection in a mirror – it does not come back in the same form; or it is not like the input and output in the computer, where the output is as demand of the users. If it is so, parents would not be difficult at all, but it is difficult. Many times, parents are witnesses to the love. The love from the parents will not necessarily result in a good conduct of the children – observations show that children who have great love and attention from their parents have lesser chances to commit crimes and will not face any troubles in the society. Similarly, parent's neglect does not necessarily result in the children becoming evil. This clearly depicts that people do not take decisions to migrate because of economic conditions, alone, rather they do so mostly because of the convenience of the children. Luckily, the migrants include many individuals from middle class and different offices, who have observed the situation in the country closely, opted to leave. Therefore, it is no need to waste time on costly policies that are taking decisions are taken by well-educated individuals who are educated in different institutions and ceremonies, offices, sports and others have their unrelated influence on the children's future. There are many Afghan refugees in European countries who have already migrated hesitate to come back. They themselves have seen the condition of their children, they are not in a condition to move freely, earn livelihood in their place of origin. Its objectives also include emphasis on the basic rights of children, especially the right to education and health.

This is a long journey between how a person is treated by his parents and his decision to commit an evil. As a matter of fact, the development of a person is highly dependent on various institutions; from the family, neighborhood, and local society to even the international community. As there are different personalities in them that imprint their marks on a person's psychology. It is difficult to say that a particular behavior with a person is the outcome of the family or the parents alone as there are different factors involved at the same time. Parents' neglect and their neglect have influence on the children, this cannot be rejected. It is believed and believed that such a mother and father is a symbol for a child's future. It can be a long journey between how a person is treated by his parents and his choice to commit an evil. Moreover, the imprints of parent's behavior on the minds of the children are not like reflection in a mirror – it does not come back in the same form; or it is not like the input and output in the computer, where the output is as demand of the users. If it is so, parents would not be difficult at all, but it is difficult. Many times, parents are witnesses to the love. The love from the parents will not necessarily result in a good conduct of the children – observations show that children who have great love and attention from their parents have lesser chances to commit crimes and will not face any troubles in the society. Similarly, parent's neglect does not necessarily result in the children becoming evil. This clearly depicts that people do not take decisions to migrate because of economic conditions, alone, rather they do so mostly because of the convenience of the children. Luckily, the migrants include many individuals from middle class and different offices, who have observed the situation in the country closely, opted to leave. Therefore, it is no need to waste time on costly policies that are taking decisions are taken by well-educated individuals who are educated in different institutions and ceremonies, offices, sports and others have their unrelated influence on the children's future. There are many Afghan refugees in European countries who have already migrated hesitate to come back. They themselves have seen the condition of their children, they are not in a condition to move freely, earn livelihood in their place of origin. Its objectives also include emphasis on the basic rights of children, especially the right to education and health.

The views and opinions expressed in the articles are those of the authors and do not reflect the views or opinions of the Daily Outlook Afghanistan.