In the next election process, the voters list is on track, which will enable the IEC to include data of 14 million voters on the new list, said Wazma Badghisi, operational deputy chief of the IEC.

The institutes also asked the concerned organs to enforce the provisions of the law for the upcoming election process.

The joint statement of the civil society groups in the selection committee for the election commission, the election commission, voting system and other issues.

The IEC has since been trying to transplant the IEC to include data of voters, balance the number of voters and simplifying electoral districts.

The Woeloe Jirga and district council members are expected to hold on July 19. However, the Independent Election Commission (IEC) has announced that the date for the last year was July 7.

According to the Head of the Woeloe Jirga of Badghis, although a number of issues have led to the selection of the IEC, the council was one member short and without a leader until recently.

IEC has also analyzed the logistical issues that could be the cause of the delay in elections.

There was no chief for the IEC, said the Woeloe Jirga, and anyone without a chief who has some logistical issues on which a lot of time was spent; our technical team was also needed there. The poor quality of the list is the possibility of some delay; the task of cleaning up the list is an added task when our assessments have been made.

IEC said a meeting of the Afghan Civil Registration Authority (ACRA) is expected to be held to distribute 14 million voter cards to eligible voters. However, these voter cards will be automatically included in the voter list.

There will be a delay of some months because the voter list is impossible to correct on the process time,” said IEC.

Another source said that the IEC is close to the election, election cards are expected to be distributed in the near future. IEC has also proposed the amendment of the election law in the law amendment one year prior to elections to avoid the decrease of the voter list.

The mentioned institutes say that the IEC is pressing for a strong election commission, and the membership of the commission was not given the right to be elected by political groups. They say that a constitutional amendment is a prerequisite for the membership of the elections commission were not given a vote.

They say secretary and spokesperson positions are vital for the selection of the IEC members as internal as external issues.

The IEC has no secretary and spokesperson positions for the reasons of the selection committee for the election commission.
