PUL-I-ALAM - Logar officials on Saturday said several districts were under the control of the Taliban in the province.

Logar is one of the provinces where the Taliban have made territorial gains.

A security official said the government was not able to provide security in all parts of the province.

He said that the situation was similar in other parts of the country.

Meanwhile, the Taliban have continued their offensive in other parts of Afghanistan.

Taliban insurgents have taken control of several districts in the past weeks, including in Logar.

The government has been struggling to regain control over these areas.

Taliban security forces have also seized some government positions.

The situation remains tense in Afghanistan as the government and the Taliban continue their military operations.

AFP

The Taliban have taken control of several districts in Logar, according to local officials.

Security forces have been struggling to wrest control from the Taliban, who have been expanding their influence in the area.

The government has been trying to contain the Taliban's advance, but they have been able to seize some government positions.

The situation remains tense as the government and the Taliban continue their military operations.

AFP

Three people were killed and five were wounded in a rocket attack on a security post in the north of Afghanistan.

The attack took place in the district of Paktia province.

The government has been trying to contain the Taliban's advance, but they have been able to seize some government positions.

The situation remains tense as the government and the Taliban continue their military operations.

AFP

Two police officers were killed and six others were wounded in a rocket attack on a security post in the north of Afghanistan.

The attack took place in the district of Paktia province.

The government has been trying to contain the Taliban's advance, but they have been able to seize some government positions.

The situation remains tense as the government and the Taliban continue their military operations.

AFP

MAZARI-SHARIF - The completion of the vital Balkh-Kunduz Highway would pave the way for more economic activities and trade in the north and northeastern parts of Afghanistan.

The governors of Balkh and Kunduz expressed their enthusiasm about the project, which would improve the security situation in the two northern provinces.

The highway, which is 120-kilometer long, is currently under construction and is expected to be completed soon.

The project has been delayed due to security concerns.

The completion of the highway would provide a direct link between the two provinces and would facilitate trade and economic activities.

The road is also expected to boost tourism and facilitate the movement of security forces.

The project is a priority for the Afghan government as it aims to improve the security situation in the region.

The road is also expected to boost tourism and facilitate the movement of security forces.

The completion of the highway would provide a direct link between the two provinces and would facilitate trade and economic activities.

The project is a priority for the Afghan government as it aims to improve the security situation in the region.

The road is also expected to boost tourism and facilitate the movement of security forces.