Asia at the crossroads: Are we observing a march towards an uncertain future?

By Saikat Kumar Basu

The geopolitical situation across Asia is hitting the nerves of the world as it is standing at the crossroads of modern history. The ancient landscape of Asia is the largest and most populous of all the continents; enriched with diverse cultures and traditions, it represents the core of current global conflicts and needs highest attention.

The birth place of all the major and minor global religions like Judaism, Islam, Christianity, Hinduism, Buddhism, Jainism, Sikhism, Taoism, Confucianism and Shintoism have all originated in Asia. They are the spiritual roots of all the major ethical and cultural characteristics, traditions and values that exist in our planet. Among the most unique landscapes of the continent from the vast Siberia in the north to the super natural archipelagos of Indonesia, Malaysia and the Philippines is the most ubiquitous character of Asia; the most prominent being the continent's diverse ethnicity and cultural traditions.

The series of attacks in Kabul, which were claimed by the Taliban, adds to the growing sense of mistrust of a fruitful negotiation and peace negotiations between the Taliban and the US forces have been exposed to such form of war and destabilization in some conflict zones with millions of lives lost over decades in war and ethnic conflicts.

Ethnic diversity is one of the main characteristics of the Afghan society. According to the constitution, it is the strength and weakness of our society. And it definitely plays a role in the government management approach how to define and use the ethnic diversity of the Afghan society in a manner which is beneficial to the country. Therefore, the Afghan government shall manage this issue in a comprehensive manner by the Afghan government. It is their legitimate power according to the constitution. Further, recognizing the importance of integration. As puts them, institutions are the rules governing the behavior of a set of individuals within a given human collectivity.

The first steps in broad based conflict resolution of ethnic conflict marginalizing policy, while during the reign of Amanullah Khan, it has increased the number of studies conclude that political institutions of fairness and equality. In managing ethnic conflicts, according to Mansfeild and et all, an increased to address the ethnicity diversity and managing it in a sound manner to ensure the national interests of Afghanistan, it is crucial to devise methods, channels and mechanisms. In managing ethnic conflicts, according to Mansfield and et all, an increase in the number of studies conclude that political institutions of fairness and equality. The series of attacks in Kabul, which were claimed by the Taliban, adds to the growing sense of mistrust of a fruitful negotiation and peace negotiations between the Taliban and the US forces have been exposed to such form of war and destabilization in some conflict zones with millions of lives lost over decades in war and ethnic conflicts.

By Hujjatullah Zia

The views and opinions expressed in the articles are the authors' and do not reflect the views or opinions of the Daily Outlook Afghanistan.