80MW Power Supply from Tajikistan to Kabul Restored

KABUL - The destroyed power pylon has been repaired in northern Kunduz province, bringing power from Tajikistan to capital Kabul, an official said on Saturday.

"The 80MW power supply between the two countries has been restored," project manager at Asian Development Bank (ADB) and the energy and water director Eng. Mohammad Abbas said.

"The efforts of ADB and the Ministry of Rural Rehabilitation and Development have led to the implementation of this important project," he said.
