India, Iran to Work for Stability in Afghanistan

KABUL - The Kunduz City Municipality has kick-started a massive clean-up operation to remove rubbish from the war-torn city. Some of the projects being implemented by the municipality include road and drainage maintenance and the establishment of at least four parks for residents. As a result of the project, jobs for 300 people, including women, have also been created. The formerly unemployed Kunduz residents, who are paid 9,000 Afgh. a month, are preparing for joint ventures - Iran's Chabahar Port and road - to improve energy security and trade between the two nations.

NEW DELHI - Indian Prime Minister Narendra Modi said on Wednesday that his government was prepared for joint ventures in economic activities with Iran, including the development of Iran’s Chabahar Port and road.

The Chabahar Port project is a joint venture between India and Iran to facilitate trade between the two countries. The project aims to reduce transportation costs and increase trade volumes between the two nations.

The Port of Chabahar is strategically located near the Strait of Hormuz, a vital shipping route for oil and gas. By developing this port, India and Iran hope to enhance economic cooperation and improve trade relations.

The agreement to develop the port was signed during a ceremony held in the presence of Indian and Iranian officials. The project is expected to create employment opportunities and stimulate economic growth in the region.

The development of the Chabahar Port is a significant step in strengthening the economic cooperation between India and Iran. The project is expected to play a crucial role in promoting trade and investments between the two countries.
