The political dynamic within the government’s machinery has filled the air with a sense of mistrust. Political orientation and factional tendencies have overridden national interests as political figures pursue their personal ambitions. The persistent political turmoil is a strong blow to the nascent democracy of Afghanistan. Following the 2014 presidential election, the National Unity Government (NUG) was founded on the basis of an agreement signed between Dr. Abdullah Abdullah and Dr. Ashraf Ghani. The agreement stated that Loya Jirga (Grand National Assembly) would be held in 2016 to reform the constitution with a view to wrest the position of prime minister.

Despite the cosmetic nature, Loya Jirga was not held in 2016 which generated two horrible consequences. First, it widened the gap between officials as strong political rhetoric is exchanged between them. Dr. Abdullah urged the presidential palace to convene Loya Jirga but it was called off by Dr. Ghani who, as an Afghan people’s advocate, has a vested interest in upholding the goals and values of democracy and the constitution. He is chained in cradle at birth, bound to suffer within the second-class state. Elections in which the heart does not beat, the society will be paralyzed politically and economically. Hence, conducting parliamentary election on time is a must because “a weak heart, a weak society.”

Although the recent issue has been resolved, it spread a sense of panic among the public. Besides reflecting the wide gap within the governing machinery, it weakened the NUG’s resolve and further eroded the gain made by the four leaders in 2014. The division of the four leaders, which resulted in breaking law such as standing against presidential decree, exchanging harsh rhetoric, and other conflicts over appointment of ministers, which lasted very long, were a strong blow to democracy.

It is widely believed that violence reached institutions or informal mechanisms. The victims of female human rights in recent times were found dead in the streets. Their bodies were found without any identification mark. The government is aware of the violence but due to its lack of interest, the government has not made any effective efforts to stop the violence. It is obvious that the political leaders are not willing to take the responsibility for protecting the human rights.

Another certainty about the upcoming election is that President Ghani will not run, and his refusal to run after holding presidential election in 2014 was a welcome move which will leave more space for government leaders to compete. This is because the NUG leaders are so self-centered that they are not interested in working for the country.

One of the main reasons of violence is women’s rights. Article 4 of the constitution, which guarantees women’s rights, was never fully investigated but the murder was never fully investigated but the killer was never brought to justice. The murderer was never fully investigated but the killer was never brought to justice. The lawyer of one of the victims was murdered in 2015.

Although the recent issue has been resolved, it spread a sense of panic among the public. Besides reflecting the wide gap within the governing machinery, it weakened the NUG’s resolve and further eroded the gain made by the four leaders in 2014. The division of the four leaders, which resulted in breaking law such as standing against presidential decree, exchanging harsh rhetoric, and other conflicts over appointment of ministers, which lasted very long, were a strong blow to democracy. It is widely believed that violence reached institutions or informal mechanisms. The victims of female human rights in recent times were found dead in the streets. Their bodies were found without any identification mark. The government is aware of the violence but due to its lack of interest, the government has not made any effective efforts to stop the violence. It is obvious that the political leaders are not willing to take the responsibility for protecting the human rights.

Another certainty about the upcoming election is that President Ghani will not run, and his refusal to run after holding presidential election in 2014 was a welcome move which will leave more space for government leaders to compete. This is because the NUG leaders are so self-centered that they are not interested in working for the country.

One of the main reasons of violence is women’s rights. Article 4 of the constitution, which guarantees women’s rights, was never fully investigated but the murder was never fully investigated but the killer was never brought to justice. The murderer was never fully investigated but the killer was never brought to justice. The lawyer of one of the victims was murdered in 2015. The murder was never fully investigated but the killer was never brought to justice. The murderer was never fully investigated but the killer was never brought to justice. The lawyer of one of the victims was murdered in 2015. The murder was never fully investigated but the killer was never brought to justice. The murderer was never fully investigated but the killer was never brought to justice. The lawyer of one of the victims was murdered in 2015.

Despite his knack for transformation, Putin is unlike his predecessors in modern Russian history. The first Putin, Dmitry Medvedev, whereas in the fourth scenario, it would entail the former, who had been Russia’s president from 2000 to 2008, now Economists and social role are restricted within the cultural frames. In another item, they encounter manifold social obstacles which hinders to take active role in social issues. A woman is considered as a productive creature to give birth and to feed and train children. She is chained in cradle at birth, bound to suffer within the second-class state. Elections in which the heart does not beat, the society will be paralyzed politically and economically. Hence, conducting parliamentary election on time is a must because “a weak heart, a weak society.”

Another certainty about the upcoming election is that President Ghani will not run, and his refusal to run after holding presidential election in 2014 was a welcome move which will leave more space for government leaders to compete. This is because the NUG leaders are so self-centered that they are not interested in working for the country.

One of the main reasons of violence is women’s rights. Article 4 of the constitution, which guarantees women’s rights, was never fully investigated but the murder was never fully investigated but the killer was never brought to justice. The murderer was never fully investigated but the killer was never brought to justice. The lawyer of one of the victims was murdered in 2015. The murder was never fully investigated but the killer was never brought to justice. The murderer was never fully investigated but the killer was never brought to justice. The lawyer of one of the victims was murdered in 2015. The murder was never fully investigated but the killer was never brought to justice. The murderer was never fully investigated but the killer was never brought to justice. The lawyer of one of the victims was murdered in 2015. The murder was never fully investigated but the killer was never brought to justice. The murderer was never fully investigated but the killer was never brought to justice. The lawyer of one of the victims was murdered in 2015. The murder was never fully investigated but the killer was never brought to justice. The murderer was never fully investigated but the killer was never brought to justice. The lawyer of one of the victims was murdered in 2015. The murder was never fully investigated but the killer was never brought to justice. The murderer was never fully investigated but the killer was never brought to justice. The lawyer of one of the victims was murdered in 2015. The murder was never fully investigated but the killer was never brought to justice. The murderer was never fully investigated but the killer was never brought to justice. The lawyer of one of the victims was murdered in 2015. The murderer was never fully investigated but the killer was never brought to justice.

Another certainty about the upcoming election is that President Ghani will not run, and his refusal to run after holding presidential election in 2014 was a welcome move which will leave more space for government leaders to compete. This is because the NUG leaders are so self-centered that they are not interested in working for the country.

One of the main reasons of violence is women’s rights. Article 4 of the constitution, which guarantees women’s rights, was never fully investigated but the murder was never fully investigated but the killer was never brought to justice. The murderer was never fully investigated but the killer was never brought to justice. The lawyer of one of the victims was murdered in 2015. The murder was never fully investigated but the killer was never brought to justice. The murderer was never fully investigated but the killer was never brought to justice. The lawyer of one of the victims was murdered in 2015. The murder was never fully investigated but the killer was never brought to justice. The murderer was never fully investigated but the killer was never brought to justice. The lawyer of one of the victims was murdered in 2015. The murder was never fully investigated but the killer was never brought to justice. The murderer was never fully investigated but the killer was never brought to justice. The lawyer of one of the victims was murdered in 2015. The murder was never fully investigated but the killer was never brought to justice. The murderer was never fully investigated but the killer was never brought to justice. The lawyer of one of the victims was murdered in 2015. The murder was never fully investigated but the killer was never brought to justice. The murderer was never fully investigated but the killer was never brought to justice. The lawyer of one of the victims was murdered in 2015. The murder was never fully investigated but the killer was never brought to justice. The murderer was never fully investigated but the killer was never brought to justice. The lawyer of one of the victims was murdered in 2015. The murder was never fully investigated but the killer was never brought to justice. The murderer was never fully investigated but the killer was never brought to justice. The lawyer of one of the victims was murdered in 2015. The murderer was never fully investigated but the killer was never brought to justice. The lawyer of one of the victims was murdered in 2015. The murderer was never fully investigated but the killer was never brought to justice. The lawyer of one of the victims was murdered in 2015. The murderer was never fully investigated but the killer was never brought to justice. The lawyer of one of the victims was murdered in 2015. The murderer was never fully investigated but the killer was never brought to justice. The lawyer of one of the victims was murdered in 2015. The murderer was never fully investigated but the killer was never brought to justice. The lawyer of one of the victims was murdered in 2015.