Facing the Current Challenges Appropriately

It is widely believed concept that the nations that go through difficult times ultimately gain a sense of admission for themselves, trembling and provide the members of such na tions become more responsible and strive to bring about positive changes. History favors this concept explicitly. For example, it took Western Europe 200 years to recover from the devastation and ultimately become better nations of the world. The bad old days are over and now we are at a point where they started realizing that wars would not lead them towards stability, therefor,

They should say no to the temptations to utilize their feelings for their self-centered incen

n Afghan government, especially the national unity government has played important role in changing Afghanistan from a land-locked state to a transit state by opening several new aerial and ground transport routes. The latest one is transshipment routes from China to Afghanistan by President Ashraf Ghani and the first Afghan consignment was sent to India through Chabahar Port in Iran.

Addressing a ceremony in Zaranj city, a western city in the province of Nimroz, Afghanistan the Prime Minister said that Afghanistan has continued to work on opening new routes to India through the city of Chabahar.

The first Afghan export shipment through the new opened route consigns 500 tonnes of dry fruits, lentils, cotton, and other goods carried by 25 vehicles, Afghan officials said. The consignment is to be shipped to the port of Mumbai in India and previously, most of Afgha nistan’s imports and exports transshipped through Pakistan but Af-

The country need to develop new road and rail infrastructures and also strengthen the existing ones. The border countries have business interests not only with Afghanistan but also among themselves. If the border countries want to estab lish ground connectivity between them, they are obliged to operate on the same wavelength. Afghanistan is not important only for its own economy, but also for its neighboring countries.

In addition, Afghanistan has potential to develop its tourism sector, but currently the internal situation does not favor in this regard. As the political stability and security situation improves, the tourism sector will witness a tremendous upsurge. It is widely believed that tourism has the potential to bring about economic growth.
