Launched by the United States, a force of 10,800 troops behind for a combat mission in Afghanistan is expected to remain in the country for 13 years, during an event on January 1, the alliance is set to begin its 13th year, which has been a time of enormous operations for NATO. The bloc will continue to provide security assistance to Afghan security forces and from various sources that will continue to support their efforts.

(1) January 01, 2014

(2) Ghani Wants...