January 04, 2015

Elections will be held between January and February

The Prime Minister of Afghanistan has announced that elections will be held between January and February. The elections are part of a constitutional amendment that was approved by the National Assembly in a joint commission of parliament.

The approval is assumed as enforceable, after it is signed by the President, without submission to the Supreme Court. In case of disagreement, the National Assembly can request the Supreme Court to reconsider the President's decision. The deadline for the elections is considered void. And, if the commission is approved by the Wolesi Jirga, it can be postponed to the next session of the parliament, if the President and the Speaker of the Assembly agree.

The approval was assumed as enforceable after it is signed by the President, without submission to the Supreme Court. In case of disagreement, the National Assembly can request the Supreme Court to reconsider the President's decision. The deadline for the elections is considered void. And, if the commission is approved by the Wolesi Jirga, it can be postponed to the next session of the parliament, if the President and the Speaker of the Assembly agree.

The July 25 elections will be held between January and February. However, any delay in the elections will be considered void. And, if the commission is approved by the Wolesi Jirga, it can be postponed to the next session of the parliament, if the President and the Speaker of the Assembly agree.

The National Assembly has approved a draft law on elections, which is expected to be signed by the President soon. The draft law provides for a presidential election to be held within a year of the approval. The President has already asked the Speaker of the Assembly to immediate the approval of the draft law.

The draft law on elections is expected to be signed by the President soon. The draft law provides for a presidential election to be held within a year of the approval. The President has already asked the Speaker of the Assembly to immediate the approval of the draft law.

The draft law on elections is expected to be signed by the President soon. The draft law provides for a presidential election to be held within a year of the approval. The President has already asked the Speaker of the Assembly to immediate the approval of the draft law.

The draft law on elections is expected to be signed by the President soon. The draft law provides for a presidential election to be held within a year of the approval. The President has already asked the Speaker of the Assembly to immediate the approval of the draft law.

The draft law on elections is expected to be signed by the President soon. The draft law provides for a presidential election to be held within a year of the approval. The President has already asked the Speaker of the Assembly to immediate the approval of the draft law.

The draft law on elections is expected to be signed by the President soon. The draft law provides for a presidential election to be held within a year of the approval. The President has already asked the Speaker of the Assembly to immediate the approval of the draft law.

The draft law on elections is expected to be signed by the President soon. The draft law provides for a presidential election to be held within a year of the approval. The President has already asked the Speaker of the Assembly to immediate the approval of the draft law.

The draft law on elections is expected to be signed by the President soon. The draft law provides for a presidential election to be held within a year of the approval. The President has already asked the Speaker of the Assembly to immediate the approval of the draft law.

The draft law on elections is expected to be signed by the President soon. The draft law provides for a presidential election to be held within a year of the approval. The President has already asked the Speaker of the Assembly to immediate the approval of the draft law.

The draft law on elections is expected to be signed by the President soon. The draft law provides for a presidential election to be held within a year of the approval. The President has already asked the Speaker of the Assembly to immediate the approval of the draft law.

The draft law on elections is expected to be signed by the President soon. The draft law provides for a presidential election to be held within a year of the approval. The President has already asked the Speaker of the Assembly to immediate the approval of the draft law.

The draft law on elections is expected to be signed by the President soon. The draft law provides for a presidential election to be held within a year of the approval. The President has already asked the Speaker of the Assembly to immediate the approval of the draft law.

The draft law on elections is expected to be signed by the President soon. The draft law provides for a presidential election to be held within a year of the approval. The President has already asked the Speaker of the Assembly to immediate the approval of the draft law.

The draft law on elections is expected to be signed by the President soon. The draft law provides for a presidential election to be held within a year of the approval. The President has already asked the Speaker of the Assembly to immediate the approval of the draft law.

The draft law on elections is expected to be signed by the President soon. The draft law provides for a presidential election to be held within a year of the approval. The President has already asked the Speaker of the Assembly to immediate the approval of the draft law.

The draft law on elections is expected to be signed by the President soon. The draft law provides for a presidential election to be held within a year of the approval. The President has already asked the Speaker of the Assembly to immediate the approval of the draft law.

The draft law on elections is expected to be signed by the President soon. The draft law provides for a presidential election to be held within a year of the approval. The President has already asked the Speaker of the Assembly to immediate the approval of the draft law.

The draft law on elections is expected to be signed by the President soon. The draft law provides for a presidential election to be held within a year of the approval. The President has already asked the Speaker of the Assembly to immediate the approval of the draft law.

The draft law on elections is expected to be signed by the President soon. The draft law provides for a presidential election to be held within a year of the approval. The President has already asked the Speaker of the Assembly to immediate the approval of the draft law.

The draft law on elections is expected to be signed by the President soon. The draft law provides for a presidential election to be held within a year of the approval. The President has already asked the Speaker of the Assembly to immediate the approval of the draft law.

The draft law on elections is expected to be signed by the President soon. The draft law provides for a presidential election to be held within a year of the approval. The President has already asked the Speaker of the Assembly to immediate the approval of the draft law.

The draft law on elections is expected to be signed by the President soon. The draft law provides for a presidential election to be held within a year of the approval. The President has already asked the Speaker of the Assembly to immediate the approval of the draft law.

The draft law on elections is expected to be signed by the President soon. The draft law provides for a presidential election to be held within a year of the approval. The President has already asked the Speaker of the Assembly to immediate the approval of the draft law.

The draft law on elections is expected to be signed by the President soon. The draft law provides for a presidential election to be held within a year of the approval. The President has already asked the Speaker of the Assembly to immediate the approval of the draft law.

The draft law on elections is expected to be signed by the President soon. The draft law provides for a presidential election to be held within a year of the approval. The President has already asked the Speaker of the Assembly to immediate the approval of the draft law.

The draft law on elections is expected to be signed by the President soon. The draft law provides for a presidential election to be held within a year of the approval. The President has already asked the Speaker of the Assembly to immediate the approval of the draft law.

The draft law on elections is expected to be signed by the President soon. The draft law provides for a presidential election to be held within a year of the approval. The President has already asked the Speaker of the Assembly to immediate the approval of the draft law.

The draft law on elections is expected to be signed by the President soon. The draft law provides for a presidential election to be held within a year of the approval. The President has already asked the Speaker of the Assembly to immediate the approval of the draft law.

The draft law on elections is expected to be signed by the President soon. The draft law provides for a presidential election to be held within a year of the approval. The President has already asked the Speaker of the Assembly to immediate the approval of the draft law.

The draft law on elections is expected to be signed by the President soon. The draft law provides for a presidential election to be held within a year of the approval. The President has already asked the Speaker of the Assembly to immediate the approval of the draft law.

The draft law on elections is expected to be signed by the President soon. The draft law provides for a presidential election to be held within a year of the approval. The President has already asked the Speaker of the Assembly to immediate the approval of the draft law.

The draft law on elections is expected to be signed by the President soon. The draft law provides for a presidential election to be held within a year of the approval. The President has already asked the Speaker of the Assembly to immediate the approval of the draft law.

The draft law on elections is expected to be signed by the President soon. The draft law provides for a presidential election to be held within a year of the approval. The President has already asked the Speaker of the Assembly to immediate the approval of the draft law.

The draft law on elections is expected to be signed by the President soon. The draft law provides for a presidential election to be held within a year of the approval. The President has already asked the Speaker of the Assembly to immediate the approval of the draft law.

The draft law on elections is expected to be signed by the President soon. The draft law provides for a presidential election to be held within a year of the approval. The President has already asked the Speaker of the Assembly to immediate the approval of the draft law.

The draft law on elections is expected to be signed by the President soon. The draft law provides for a presidential election to be held within a year of the approval. The President has already asked the Speaker of the Assembly to immediate the approval of the draft law.

The draft law on elections is expected to be signed by the President soon. The draft law provides for a presidential election to be held within a year of the approval. The President has already asked the Speaker of the Assembly to immediate the approval of the draft law.

The draft law on elections is expected to be signed by the President soon. The draft law provides for a presidential election to be held within a year of the approval. The President has already asked the Speaker of the Assembly to immediate the approval of the draft law.