US Chopper Goes Down While Recovering Wounded Special Forces

WASHINGTON - A US medical evacuation helicopter went down while on a mission in Afghanistan, local media reported on Tuesday. The helicopter experienced mechanical malfunction while responding to the call by wounded US special forces troops, NBC News reported citing US defense officials. The United States has stationed 9,800 military personnel in Afghanistan, despite previous plans to end its military presence there by year's end. In 2015, the Taliban intensified its offensive in Afghanistan, seizing entire regions and embarking on a killing campaign of both, national and foreign personnel. A US Department of Defense report published in December noted a deteriorating overall security situation in Afghanistan in the second half of 2015. (Sputnik)

Outlook Horoscope

Aries (Mar. 22-Apr.20)

You're already busy networking with your friends and associates these days because Mercury has set up shop in your 11th House of Groups. However, as the Trickster turns retrograde, you begin to reconsider your career strategy and want to share your revised goals with your peers. Discussing your future is a prelude to the pragmatic planning that must follow as you imagine the possibilities ahead.

Taurus (Apr.21-May 20)

Your role in the community is integrally connected with your career now that Mercury turns retrograde in your 10th House of Public Life. Perhaps these last weeks have felt like a whirlwind as you tried to finish a complicated job even with the noisy interference of the holiday season. However, you soon realize there's more work to do when others point out the missing pieces of the puzzle.

Gemini (May 21-June 20)

An ongoing project may have expanded way beyond your original intent. Now you begin to realize that you need to scale back your vision and bring your expectations down to size. Mentally agile Mercury's retrograde dance in your 9th House of Big Ideas reveals where your strategy isn't supported by reality. It's one thing to maintain a positive attitude about your aspirations.

Cancer (June 21-July 20)

You may be hypersensitive as the winged messenger turns backward in your 8th House of Deep Sharing. Intimacy is built on clear communication, yet it's challenging to say what you mean today. Unfortunately, you can't move forward without including others in your plans, even if they seem to have a different agenda. If all the dissonance starts to wear you down.

Leo (July 21-Aug. 21)

Emotional stress may impact a partnership now until you address important issues through honest communication. Unfortunately, mischievous Mercury has slammed on the brakes and has shifted into reverse gear while visiting your 7th House of Relationships. Starting a conversation isn't easy, but don't miss this opportunity to clean up old business.

Virgo (Aug. 22-Sep 22)

Normally, you're quite adept at managing the complexities of modern living by breaking down big jobs into smaller components. However, you may be preoccupied these days by the practical demands of your everyday routine. It's challenging to know how to improve the quality of your life now that Mercury is turning retrograde in your 6th House of Habits. Without your constant vigilance.

Libra (Sep 23-Oct. 22)

You may be asked to revisit old issues which makes you feel like you're running in circles these days. The messenger planet is backtracking in your 5th House of Play, possibly bringing more fun and creativity into your life during this planetary period of review. However, you might need to relax your current agenda and go with the flow today, even if it pulls you in the wrong direction.

Scorpio (Oct.23-Nov.22)

You are often a champion at overcoming obstacles, especially when they are between you and the object of your intentions. However, Mercury's retrograde in your 4th House of Security makes you question your competence. You could overcompensate by bulldozing your way through anything blocking your path.

Sagittarius (Nov.23-Dec.20)

Sagittarius You are your own greatest enemy today as you inadvertently work against your success. Although you feel uncommonly resistant to change, the pressure to reconsider your current path is intensifying all around you. Discussing your alternatives with trusted friends is wise when Mercury the Messenger turns retrograde in your 3rd House of Communication.

Capricorn (Dec.21-Jan19)

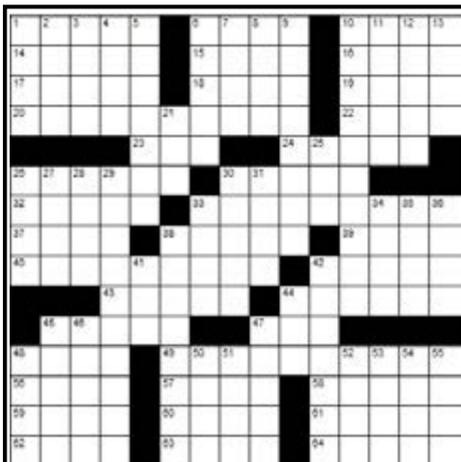

You may discover you have more work to do to shore up your finances, especially if you've been concerned about your fiscal stability recently. But Mercury's retrograde turn in your 2nd House of Money cautions you against making immediate changes because you could act carelessly in a way that negatively affects your bank account. The more obsessive you feel, the more you need to cool your jets.

Aquarius (Jan 20-Feb.18)

Routines that you recently established might start to fall apart now. But avoid the trap of thinking that everything has to be fixed right away. Nevertheless, today's retrograde turn of mischievous Mercury is all about you because the Cosmic Trickster is backpedaling in your sign. You can minimize frustration by buckling down and putting in the necessary work while simultaneously cutting yourself some slack along the way.

Pisces (Feb.19-Mar.20)

Your thoughts may be out of sync with your actions now that cerebral Mercury turns retrograde in your 12th House of Fantasy. Although you might be able to see some progress, the rational part of your mind is working overtime to analyze your current situation and reevaluate your plans for the weeks ahead. But don't make any major decisions yet; the underlying stability will likely outlast your temporary uncertainty.
