T

B

I

J

T

January 06, 2019

January 06, 2019

T

T

B

I

J

T

There are two ways of looking at the role and position of an individual within a society. One is through the lens of rights, while the other is through the lens of responsibilities. Mostly, the first one is the way, the subject or the people want to be given their rights with the rights and they consider that the government has the responsibility to fulfill their rights. The second way is to think beyond our personal interests and duties as well to have a better society. Let us all be active citizens of the civilized world. Let us not only talk about our rights but speak up the new ones in order to go with the pace of developed and civilized societies. Let us substitute the old ideas with new ones. We have to remove all the evils and let us promise to use up our energy and strength all for the sake of our country. We have to work ceaselessly. We have limited time to build something new. We have to build something different as we feel that we are the ones who built the same corrupt society. We do not have the complete privilege to expect the new leaders to be different from us when they are the products of the same system. We have to make sure that we work harder so that we can change the system. People might say that we are not the leaders of the society, but we have to assume that role. It is our responsibility to think about what we can do for our country. It is our responsibility to get involved and to ask about our rights and freedoms. Every country has the right to be given their rights after they fulfill their responsibilities. However, it is important to see that both these views are excessive in nature.

For the people, it is really important to have a balanced view. The people have to see that the government has the responsibility to fulfill the perspective of the citizens by fulfilling and respecting all the rights and responsibilities as well as they have to perform. Because of the past system, the government does not have a cooperative relation with the people. It is the responsibility of the government to see that all the individuals are responsible for the development of the society equally. If there are some shortcoming within the society, the people are responsible in certain ways as well. It is really important to feed the people only for the government and the people have to assume some very important questions. In the Name of God, the Most Merciful, the Most Kind.

Balancing Rights and Responsibilities

There are two ways of looking at the role and position of an individual within a society. One is through the lens of rights, while the other is through the lens of responsibilities. Mostly, the first one is the way, the subject or the people want to be given their rights with the rights and they consider that the government has the responsibility to fulfill their rights. The second way is to think beyond our personal interests and duties as well to have a better society. Let us all be active citizens of the civilized world. Let us not only talk about our rights but speak up the new ones in order to go with the pace of developed and civilized societies. Let us substitute the old ideas with new ones. We have to remove all the evils and let us promise to use up our energy and strength all for the sake of our country. We have to work ceaselessly. We have limited time to build something new. We have to build something different as we feel that we are the ones who built the same corrupt society. We do not have the complete privilege to expect the new leaders to be different from us when they are the products of the same system. We have to make sure that we work harder so that we can change the system. People might say that we are not the leaders of the society, but we have to assume that role. It is our responsibility to think about what we can do for our country. It is our responsibility to get involved and to ask about our rights and freedoms. Every country has the right to be given their rights after they fulfill their responsibilities. However, it is important to see that both these views are excessive in nature.

For the people, it is really important to have a balanced view. The people have to see that the government has the responsibility to fulfill the perspective of the citizens by fulfilling and respecting all the rights and responsibilities as well as they have to perform. Because of the past system, the government does not have a cooperative relation with the people. It is the responsibility of the government to see that all the individuals are responsible for the development of the society equally. If there are some shortcoming within the society, the people are responsible in certain ways as well. It is really important to feed the people only for the government and the people have to assume some very important questions. In the Name of God, the Most Merciful, the Most Kind.