January 07, 2016

Continuous Discrimination against Women

V

omen in Afghanistan, unfortunately, have seen some of the worst discriminations ever heard or experienced. Most of them were seen during the civil war and Taliban reign. After the downfall of Taliban, though there have been certain improvements, still a large portion of women in Afghanistan are visionaries, disenfranchised, victimized, and isolated. They are forced to live their lives vilified and ridiculed by the traditional Afghan culture and tradition.

Discrimination and instability have further deteriorated the situation for the women of this region. The women of Afghanistan are linked with discrimination and violence that basically originate from the extremist religious and tribal societies.

Women in Afghanistan, unfortunately, have seen some of the worst discriminations ever heard or experienced. Most of them were seen during the civil war and Taliban reign. After the downfall of Taliban, though there have been certain improvements, still a large portion of women in Afghanistan are visionaries, disenfranchised, victimized, and isolated. They are forced to live their lives vilified and ridiculed by the traditional Afghan culture and tradition.

Discrimination against women do not seem to be having a decrease in Afghanistan and there are fears that the gains acquired in uplifting the position of women in Afghan society in the past few years have brought them to the brink of death. They are生活垃圾ized with discrimination and violence that basically originate from the extremist religious and tribal societies.

Women in Afghanistan, unfortunately, have seen some of the worst discriminations ever heard or experienced. Most of them were seen during the civil war and Taliban reign. After the downfall of Taliban, though there have been certain improvements, still a large portion of women in Afghanistan are visionaries, disenfranchised, victimized, and isolated. They are forced to live their lives vilified and ridiculed by the traditional Afghan culture and tradition.

Discrimination against women do not seem to be having a decrease in Afghanistan and there are fears that the gains acquired in uplifting the position of women in Afghan society in the past few years have brought them to the brink of death. They are生活垃圾ized with discrimination and violence that basically originate from the extremist religious and tribal societies.

Women in Afghanistan, unfortunately, have seen some of the worst discriminations ever heard or experienced. Most of them were seen during the civil war and Taliban reign. After the downfall of Taliban, though there have been certain improvements, still a large portion of women in Afghanistan are visionaries, disenfranchised, victimized, and isolated. They are forced to live their lives vilified and ridiculed by the traditional Afghan culture and tradition.

Discrimination against women do not seem to be having a decrease in Afghanistan and there are fears that the gains acquired in uplifting the position of women in Afghan society in the past few years have brought them to the brink of death. They are生活垃圾ized with discrimination and violence that basically originate from the extremist religious and tribal societies.