Afghanistan: Civilian deaths in Baghlan.

Baghlan Shooting Survivor Says Religion Was the Motive

KABUL - One of the Baghlan coal miners who survived a deadly shooting on Friday in Tala-e Barikat in Baghlan, said Saturday the group had killed Hazara people and that the government must stop killing Hazara people," said Hazran, Hazara’s brother. Meanwhile Baghlan provincial council blame security forces for failing to provide adequate security.

"If killing of Hazara people continues, I think government will not be able to stop such movements. Government is not able to provide security for the people," said Bismillah Latifi, a provincial council member. Baghlan provincial governor Abdul Satar Bari, said they did not know who they shot or why Hazaras were targeted.

"We are all colleagues and we told them that we are not Muslims and that we are workers and our families and children but they did not listen to our plea," said Hazran.

Relatives of the victims have called for justice and said that government must prosecute those responsible.

"Our sin is that we are Hazara and we have been killed and the government must stop killing Hazara people," said Hazran, Hazara’s brother. Hazran said the reason was their belief. Hazaras are shot in the back and killed in Khenj hospital. "We are trying to escape in our vehicle when they (Daesh) shot us. They killed one person and then stopped us and told us you belong to another religion and your death is allowed and then they started shooting us and others fell in the river and I got wounded in my back," Hazran said. He said the gunmen, who were masked, called them non-believers.

"We were all colleagues and we told them that we are not Muslims and that we are workers and our families and children but they did not listen to our plea," said Hazran.

Islam is great and misuse religion will bring the culprits to justice. "...our sin is that we are Hazaras and we have been killed," said Hazran, Hazara’s brother. Hazran said the reason was their belief. Hazaras are shot in the back and killed in Khenj hospital. "We are trying to escape in our vehicle when they (Daesh) shot us. Civilians and security forces suffered no casualties in the battle, he added. The provincial police spokesman, Mohammad Ayyub Youniszada, said the operation was ongoing in two part of the province where most of the areas were cleared from the militants.”

The provincial government urged the public to support the government to help them eliminate the terrorist network.

The armed women belong to the eighth municipality district, she migrated to Qush Tepa to escape Daesh support. Asadullah, another woman who has become a sworn woman in Qush Tepa to escape Daesh support.

Asadullah said: “The people working in this area have been suffering from the Taliban. We had a task to protect the ID card holders, they did not create any problem. The militants attacked them and killed Hazara people and women. Hazara people have been killed in this attack. The government should help the courageous women in this area. We have no hope to live," she said.

The affected families are members of the ID card holders. Now we have no hope to live. A few have taken up arms in self-defense and joined the government to protect them. Civil society activist Eng Ashrafzada, a human rights activist held the government responsible for the killing of their three brothers and two sisters. Subsequent to this, she migrated to Qesh Teps district of northwestern Kunar province.

"Killing of civilians because of their faith is a war crime," said Mujahid. "We tell the AFHRC, AMIC media office in the province…sometimes they (terrorists) kill people chanting Allah is great and misuse religion. This is a shameful. Religious group is against the government. They do not condone it," said Mujahid. "Killing of civilians because of their faith is a war crime," said Mujahid.
