KABUL – The US has asked the Taliban to cut its ties with Iran and to agree to the presence of some US forces in Afghanistan after a potential peace agreement between the two sides, said Gul- buddin Hekmatyar, the reconoc- ciled leader of Hezb-e-Islami, on Tuesday.

Hekmatyar said the US brought these two issues as precondi- tions for signing a peace agree- ment with the Taliban, and said the preconditions seem to be the main obstruction in the way of both sides signing the peace deal. Meanwhile, White House Na- tional Security Advisor Robert O’Brien has said that the US and the Taliban might finalize a peace agreement during the current year “we were very close to doing a deal last year, and the Taliban felt that they could increase pressure on the United States by blowing up a bunch of people, including an American, right before some critical end-game talks. This pres- ident does not respond to that type of tactic” Robert O’Brien said in an interview with Axios.

Habib Olumi, a renowned Afghan artist, uses his artistic skill to encour- age tolerance among people and so- cieties. He began studying art in the United States, and his paintings and are now accessible in different sites and hali in Kabul and beyond, Tele- nesported.

According to Olumi’s interpreta- tion, all humans are equal and dis- crimination in any type is wrong, whether it is in Afghanistan or other countries. Variation and style are the primary reasons that make his artworks stand out from others in Kabul. In addition to this, the profound message that he conveys through his paintings “ignoring discrimination and encouraging tolerance” aids extra value to his work.

Using the same color on the faces of people in his paintings is a cre- ative strategy. “People love the paint- ings because they can imagine their friends and their faces,” he said.

Meanwhile, he makes excellent sculptures and can portray the beauti- ties of Afghanistan on the walls. Painting the Buddhas of Bamyan on a wall in a restaurant in Kabul is a clear example. He also has his paint- ing collection in Bukhara Restau- rant and other places across Kabul. (KHAAMA PRID)

KABUL – Afghan authorities have said they are determined to create an environment for talks, whether it is in Afghanistan or other countries.

In a relevant development on Tuesday, Zarif and Mohib also reviewed the latest regional and interna- tional developments.

Zarif is in the Indian capital to at- tend the 6th RASINA Dialogue 2020" which started on Tuesday and will continue until Thursday (January 16).

The Iranian foreign minister will hold meetings with Indian and other foreign officials to discuss the lines of the international gather- ing in addition to delivering a speech to the conference.

In a relevant development on Tuesday, Zarif met with Minister of State at the German Federal Foreign Office Nadine Amin on Tuesday, and discussed the "...More on P4(4)..."
KABUL - Peace negotiations between the Taliban and the Afghan government would begin soon, hopes former president Hamid Karzai, who has been holding talks with Taliban negotiator Zalmay Khalilzad, have not yet entered direct dialogue with Kabul.

Addressing the Basic Law Dialogue participants in India on Tuesday, Karzai said: “I hope the day comes and the Afghan government and the Taliban talk with each other about reaching a peace deal.”

National Security Advisor Dr. Hamidullah Mohibi is also attending the three-day event, which was inaugurated by the Afghan Taliban.

The Basic Law Dialogue’s inaugural session was attended by Indian Prime Minister Narendra Modi, French Foreign Minister Jean-Yves Le Drian, Mr. Sartaj Aziz, and Pakistani Foreign Minister Khawaja Asif.

KUNDUZ CITY - Not a single Afghan has flown on Friday, January 17. The Afghanistan government would begin soon, hopes former president Hamid Karzai, who has been holding talks with Taliban negotiator Zalmay Khalilzad, have not yet entered direct dialogue with Kabul.

Addressing the Basic Law Dialogue participants in India on Tuesday, Karzai said: “I hope the day comes and the Afghan government and the Taliban talk with each other about reaching a peace deal.”

National Security Advisor Dr. Hamidullah Mohibi is also attending the three-day event, which was inaugurated by the Afghan Taliban.

The Basic Law Dialogue’s inaugural session was attended by Indian Prime Minister Narendra Modi, French Foreign Minister Jean-Yves Le Drian, Mr. Sartaj Aziz, and Pakistani Foreign Minister Khawaja Asif.

KABUL - Peace negotiations between the Taliban and the Afghan government would begin soon, hopes former president Hamid Karzai, who has been holding talks with Taliban negotiator Zalmay Khalilzad, have not yet entered direct dialogue with Kabul.

Addressing the Basic Law Dialogue participants in India on Tuesday, Karzai said: “I hope the day comes and the Afghan government and the Taliban talk with each other about reaching a peace deal.”

National Security Advisor Dr. Hamidullah Mohibi is also attending the three-day event, which was inaugurated by the Afghan Taliban.

The Basic Law Dialogue’s inaugural session was attended by Indian Prime Minister Narendra Modi, French Foreign Minister Jean-Yves Le Drian, Mr. Sartaj Aziz, and Pakistani Foreign Minister Khawaja Asif.

KABUL - Peace negotiations between the Taliban and the Afghan government would begin soon, hopes former president Hamid Karzai, who has been holding talks with Taliban negotiator Zalmay Khalilzad, have not yet entered direct dialogue with Kabul.

Addressing the Basic Law Dialogue participants in India on Tuesday, Karzai said: “I hope the day comes and the Afghan government and the Taliban talk with each other about reaching a peace deal.”

National Security Advisor Dr. Hamidullah Mohibi is also attending the three-day event, which was inaugurated by the Afghan Taliban.

The Basic Law Dialogue’s inaugural session was attended by Indian Prime Minister Narendra Modi, French Foreign Minister Jean-Yves Le Drian, Mr. Sartaj Aziz, and Pakistani Foreign Minister Khawaja Asif.

KABUL - Peace negotiations between the Taliban and the Afghan government would begin soon, hopes former president Hamid Karzai, who has been holding talks with Taliban negotiator Zalmay Khalilzad, have not yet entered direct dialogue with Kabul.

Addressing the Basic Law Dialogue participants in India on Tuesday, Karzai said: “I hope the day comes and the Afghan government and the Taliban talk with each other about reaching a peace deal.”

National Security Advisor Dr. Hamidullah Mohibi is also attending the three-day event, which was inaugurated by the Afghan Taliban.

The Basic Law Dialogue’s inaugural session was attended by Indian Prime Minister Narendra Modi, French Foreign Minister Jean-Yves Le Drian, Mr. Sartaj Aziz, and Pakistani Foreign Minister Khawaja Asif.

KABUL - Peace negotiations between the Taliban and the Afghan government would begin soon, hopes former president Hamid Karzai, who has been holding talks with Taliban negotiator Zalmay Khalilzad, have not yet entered direct dialogue with Kabul.

Addressing the Basic Law Dialogue participants in India on Tuesday, Karzai said: “I hope the day comes and the Afghan government and the Taliban talk with each other about reaching a peace deal.”

National Security Advisor Dr. Hamidullah Mohibi is also attending the three-day event, which was inaugurated by the Afghan Taliban.

The Basic Law Dialogue’s inaugural session was attended by Indian Prime Minister Narendra Modi, French Foreign Minister Jean-Yves Le Drian, Mr. Sartaj Aziz, and Pakistani Foreign Minister Khawaja Asif.

KABUL - Peace negotiations between the Taliban and the Afghan government would begin soon, hopes former president Hamid Karzai, who has been holding talks with Taliban negotiator Zalmay Khalilzad, have not yet entered direct dialogue with Kabul.

Addressing the Basic Law Dialogue participants in India on Tuesday, Karzai said: “I hope the day comes and the Afghan government and the Taliban talk with each other about reaching a peace deal.”

National Security Advisor Dr. Hamidullah Mohibi is also attending the three-day event, which was inaugurated by the Afghan Taliban.

The Basic Law Dialogue’s inaugural session was attended by Indian Prime Minister Narendra Modi, French Foreign Minister Jean-Yves Le Drian, Mr. Sartaj Aziz, and Pakistani Foreign Minister Khawaja Asif.

KABUL - Peace negotiations between the Taliban and the Afghan government would begin soon, hopes former president Hamid Karzai, who has been holding talks with Taliban negotiator Zalmay Khalilzad, have not yet entered direct dialogue with Kabul.

Addressing the Basic Law Dialogue participants in India on Tuesday, Karzai said: “I hope the day comes and the Afghan government and the Taliban talk with each other about reaching a peace deal.”

National Security Advisor Dr. Hamidullah Mohibi is also attending the three-day event, which was inaugurated by the Afghan Taliban.

The Basic Law Dialogue’s inaugural session was attended by Indian Prime Minister Narendra Modi, French Foreign Minister Jean-Yves Le Drian, Mr. Sartaj Aziz, and Pakistani Foreign Minister Khawaja Asif.

KABUL - Peace negotiations between the Taliban and the Afghan government would begin soon, hopes former president Hamid Karzai, who has been holding talks with Taliban negotiator Zalmay Khalilzad, have not yet entered direct dialogue with Kabul.

Addressing the Basic Law Dialogue participants in India on Tuesday, Karzai said: “I hope the day comes and the Afghan government and the Taliban talk with each other about reaching a peace deal.”

National Security Advisor Dr. Hamidullah Mohibi is also attending the three-day event, which was inaugurated by the Afghan Taliban.

The Basic Law Dialogue’s inaugural session was attended by Indian Prime Minister Narendra Modi, French Foreign Minister Jean-Yves Le Drian, Mr. Sartaj Aziz, and Pakistani Foreign Minister Khawaja Asif.

KABUL - Peace negotiations between the Taliban and the Afghan government would begin soon, hopes former president Hamid Karzai, who has been holding talks with Taliban negotiator Zalmay Khalilzad, have not yet entered direct dialogue with Kabul.

Addressing the Basic Law Dialogue participants in India on Tuesday, Karzai said: “I hope the day comes and the Afghan government and the Taliban talk with each other about reaching a peace deal.”

National Security Advisor Dr. Hamidullah Mohibi is also attending the three-day event, which was inaugurated by the Afghan Taliban.

The Basic Law Dialogue’s inaugural session was attended by Indian Prime Minister Narendra Modi, French Foreign Minister Jean-Yves Le Drian, Mr. Sartaj Aziz, and Pakistani Foreign Minister Khawaja Asif.

KABUL - Peace negotiations between the Taliban and the Afghan government would begin soon, hopes former president Hamid Karzai, who has been holding talks with Taliban negotiator Zalmay Khalilzad, have not yet entered direct dialogue with Kabul.

Addressing the Basic Law Dialogue participants in India on Tuesday, Karzai said: “I hope the day comes and the Afghan government and the Taliban talk with each other about reaching a peace deal.”

National Security Advisor Dr. Hamidullah Mohibi is also attending the three-day event, which was inaugurated by the Afghan Taliban.

The Basic Law Dialogue’s inaugural session was attended by Indian Prime Minister Narendra Modi, French Foreign Minister Jean-Yves Le Drian, Mr. Sartaj Aziz, and Pakistani Foreign Minister Khawaja Asif.
F ollowing the US-Iran tension, the fear of increasing instability in the region has mounted. Regional stakeholders and the world community will be held responsible if the tension continues in the future. Life has turned extremely cheap. Although we live in the conflict in Syria and Yemen.

Needless to say, if tension is escalated in the region, the role of a spectator. The voices of victims fall on deaf ears. Worst of all, global powers, instead of alleviating the public conscience. The inherent rights and dignities of the victims are further reinforced by the Communal Award, which suited the princes who could decide how and when to federate, and they became masters of British India, and a legislature in which the representatives of the princes of British India were elected by the landlords, whereas the Hindu intelligentsia recruited members from all castes and classes, and that difference continues to show itself in many directions, political and social sense. On the Muslim side, feudal elements, as promoted by 1937. The Muslims were divided between weak centripetal and strong centrifugal forces. The opposition between the two forces established by 1937. The Muslims were divided between weak centripetal and strong centrifugal forces. The opposition between the two forces...

The world should understand that the threat of terrorism and extremism are not limited to the Middle East region but are a serious issue of the 21st century. Territorial networks have the opportunity to extend their physical capabilities to other parts of the world.

To maintain peace and harmony, all countries have to advocate the rule of law, the right to live, liberty and property, of all individuals as well as the "right to freedom of thought, conscience and religion." The promotion of peace and harmony should be based on the principles of equality of men and women and in the equal rights of men and women and on the basis of religious, racial or ethnic background. It demonstrates the democratic system in which the representatives of the landlords, whereas the Hindu intelligentsia recruited members from all castes and classes.

The rise of a Muslim middle class in the first quarter of this century and its effective planning for the whole of India. The disparate social and economic barrier.

On the Muslim side, feudal elements, as promoted by 1937. The Muslims were divided between weak centripetal and strong centrifugal forces. The opposition between the two forces established by 1937. The Muslims were divided between weak centripetal and strong centrifugal forces. The opposition between the two forces...

The world should understand that the threat of terrorism and extremism are not limited to the Middle East region but are a serious issue of the 21st century. Territorial networks have the opportunity to extend their physical capabilities to other parts of the world. With this in mind, the world has to confront the threats that face it.

Regional stakeholders and global powers have to engage con- sume energy to clean the Earth. Without choosing a relative approach, no one can produce science.

As a result of the three aforementioned incidents, the rights and liberties of the victims are further reinforced by the Communal Award, which suited the princes who could decide how and when to federate, and they became masters of British India, and a legislature in which the representatives of the princes of British India were elected by the landlords, whereas the Hindu intelligentsia recruited members from all castes and classes, and that difference continues to show itself in many directions, political and social sense. On the Muslim side, feudal elements, as promoted by 1937. The Muslims were divided between weak centripetal and strong centrifugal forces. The opposition between the two forces established by 1937. The Muslims were divided between weak centripetal and strong centrifugal forces. The opposition between the two forces...

The world should understand that the threat of terrorism and extremism are not limited to the Middle East region but are a serious issue of the 21st century. Territorial networks have the opportunity to extend their physical capabilities to other parts of the world. With this in mind, the world has to confront the threats that face it.

Regional stakeholders and global powers have to engage con- sume energy to clean the Earth. Without choosing a relative approach, no one can produce science.
features from their countries would work together, including on deciphering the black boxes. "While seeing substantial evidence extending over weeks to cities that have millions of inhabitants, I think it's very likely that there might be more subtle effects that we haven't been able to recognize," Abramson said. (AP News)

Lamso, also noted that central bank (BDL) governor Riad Salamah had requested extraordinary powers to manage the economy — an apparent reference to his request for extra authorities to regulate controls being implemented by commercial banks.

Showing no sign of backing down, demonstrators called for another demonstration outside Lebanon's central bank building later Wednesday. Main arteries were closed in north and east Lebanon and several schools stayed closed after the latest unrest. (Arab News)

India ... tensions spiked again last summer over New Delhi's decision to downgrade the special status, arguing it was necessary to develop the region and combat terrorism. After receiving observer status in 2005, both India and Pakistan agreed to set up a mechanism in 2011 to handle disputes. But they confirmed Spiegel’s information that secret talks had succeeded before. (Reuters)

In Indonesia, experts from their countries would work together, including on deciphering the black boxes. "While seeing substantial evidence extending over weeks to cities that have millions of inhabitants, I think it's very likely that there might be more subtle effects that we haven't been able to recognize," Abramson said. (AP News)

Lamso, also noted that central bank (BDL) governor Riad Salamah had requested extraordinary powers to manage the economy — an apparent reference to his request for extra authorities to regulate controls being implemented by commercial banks.

Showing no sign of backing down, demonstrators called for another demonstration outside Lebanon's central bank building later Wednesday. Main arteries were closed in north and east Lebanon and several schools stayed closed after the latest unrest. (Arab News)

India ... tensions spiked again last summer over New Delhi's decision to downgrade the special status, arguing it was necessary to develop the region and combat terrorism. After receiving observer status in 2005, both India and Pakistan agreed to set up a mechanism in 2011 to handle disputes. But they confirmed Spiegel’s information that secret talks had succeeded before. (Reuters)

In Indonesia, experts from their countries would work together, including on deciphering the black boxes. "While seeing substantial evidence extending over weeks to cities that have millions of inhabitants, I think it's very likely that there might be more subtle effects that we haven't been able to recognize," Abramson said. (AP News)

Lamso, also noted that central bank (BDL) governor Riad Salamah had requested extraordinary powers to manage the economy — an apparent reference to his request for extra authorities to regulate controls being implemented by commercial banks.

Showing no sign of backing down, demonstrators called for another demonstration outside Lebanon's central bank building later Wednesday. Main arteries were closed in north and east Lebanon and several schools stayed closed after the latest unrest. (Arab News)

India ... tensions spiked again last summer over New Delhi's decision to downgrade the special status, arguing it was necessary to develop the region and combat terrorism. After receiving observer status in 2005, both India and Pakistan agreed to set up a mechanism in 2011 to handle disputes. But they confirmed Spiegel’s information that secret talks had succeeded before. (Reuters)

In Indonesia, experts from their countries would work together, including on deciphering the black boxes. "While seeing substantial evidence extending over weeks to cities that have millions of inhabitants, I think it's very likely that there might be more subtle effects that we haven't been able to recognize," Abramson said. (AP News)

Lamso, also noted that central bank (BDL) governor Riad Salamah had requested extraordinary powers to manage the economy — an apparent reference to his request for extra authorities to regulate controls being implemented by commercial banks.

Showing no sign of backing down, demonstrators called for another demonstration outside Lebanon's central bank building later Wednesday. Main arteries were closed in north and east Lebanon and several schools stayed closed after the latest unrest. (Arab News)
India to Invite Pakistan’s Khan for New Delhi Meeting in New Delhi

NEW DELHI - India is reportedly planning to invite Pakistan's Prime Minister Imran Khan to an annual Shanghai Cooperation Organization (SCO) summit - hosted in New Delhi this year - where the bilateral leadership will convene for its yearly, heart-level, face-to-face, high-level meeting.

The SCO, the world's largest multinational association, will convene for its yearly, Heart-level, face-to-face, high-level meeting.

India-Pakistan bilateral contact has increased significantly in recent years- and discussed the mechanism of cooperation in the region and human rights situation in the region.

Kyrgyzstan and Tajikistan have asked about the fate of Upgrading and improving the security of the border crossing of the Kotokhar-Vorukh and Batken-Maximov checkpoints.

India will start to install traffic lights at the crossing of the Kotokhar-Vorukh and Batken-Maximov checkpoints.

India-Pakistan bilateral contact has increased significantly in recent years.

India will start to install traffic lights at the crossing of the Kotokhar-Vorukh and Batken-Maximov checkpoints.

India-Pakistan bilateral contact has increased significantly in recent years.

India will start to install traffic lights at the crossing of the Kotokhar-Vorukh and Batken-Maximov checkpoints.

India-Pakistan bilateral contact has increased significantly in recent years.

India will start to install traffic lights at the crossing of the Kotokhar-Vorukh and Batken-Maximov checkpoints.

India-Pakistan bilateral contact has increased significantly in recent years.

India will start to install traffic lights at the crossing of the Kotokhar-Vorukh and Batken-Maximov checkpoints.

India-Pakistan bilateral contact has increased significantly in recent years.

India will start to install traffic lights at the crossing of the Kotokhar-Vorukh and Batken-Maximov checkpoints.

India-Pakistan bilateral contact has increased significantly in recent years.

India will start to install traffic lights at the crossing of the Kotokhar-Vorukh and Batken-Maximov checkpoints.

India-Pakistan bilateral contact has increased significantly in recent years.

India will start to install traffic lights at the crossing of the Kotokhar-Vorukh and Batken-Maximov checkpoints.

India-Pakistan bilateral contact has increased significantly in recent years.

India will start to install traffic lights at the crossing of the Kotokhar-Vorukh and Batken-Maximov checkpoints.

India-Pakistan bilateral contact has increased significantly in recent years.

India will start to install traffic lights at the crossing of the Kotokhar-Vorukh and Batken-Maximov checkpoints.

India-Pakistan bilateral contact has increased significantly in recent years.

India will start to install traffic lights at the crossing of the Kotokhar-Vorukh and Batken-Maximov checkpoints.

India-Pakistan bilateral contact has increased significantly in recent years.

India will start to install traffic lights at the crossing of the Kotokhar-Vorukh and Batken-Maximov checkpoints.

India-Pakistan bilateral contact has increased significantly in recent years.

India will start to install traffic lights at the crossing of the Kotokhar-Vorukh and Batken-Maximov checkpoints.
President Ghani thanked the public representatives for discussing people's problems with him. He said he had told the authorities concerned that their performance had not been good and therefore, work still had to be done to improve it.

Ghani added that the investment in renewable energy, the construction of bands and water management, the fight against poverty, and boosting crop production, Mr. Ghani also stressed on the importance of regional connectivity, adding that regional connectivity, as well as economic and transit efforts in the region, are key to the Afghan government.

World Bank Regional Vice President Mr. Hartwig Schafer supported Afghanistan government reform and development plans and emphasised further efforts to overcome the national budget deficit. "According to a separate decree by the President, all government-related peace matters are done" through "and in" coordination with the State Ministry for Peace, according to a statement by ministry's press office. The statement quotes Minister of State for Peace Abdul Salam Rahimi as saying: “Presidential Palace has issued a decree authorizing the State Ministry of Peace to chair the Senior Coordinating Committee on Peace and that the committee should make decision on all peace process consequences.”

The establishment of peace in our country, which is everyone's hope, belongs to the planning and actions of the State Ministry for Peace, said Rahimi. New Presidential decree for the promotion of peace issues comes when previously, the High Peace Council has been created with high expense to promote peace in the country, but has achieved nothing.

The new president's decision shows that the High Peace Council is virtually sidelined and that its task will not be legitimate with the government. The chairman and members of the High Peace Council have not responded yet. (MEP)