January 21, 2017

Joblessness Fuels Terrorism

By Hujatullah Zia

Afg

ghanistan is going through a crucial juncture of its history wherein issues in need to be resolute as quickly as possible to prevent the situation from deteriorating. In order to ensure that the situation stays stable, the Afghan government needs to take necessary steps to mitigate the situation.

Joblessness and its effects are mainly because of the lack of proper education and training. The government has failed to provide the people with the necessary skills and knowledge to compete in the job market.

The government needs to understand that joblessness is one of the most important issues that need to be addressed. A developing and improving economic system would allow the country to stand on its own.

On the other hand, if the economic system is stagnant and highly dependent on support from other countries, the country will be vulnerable. In such countries, the people, the people, in support can be used to achieve its objectives.

The government needs to ensure that the joblessness problem becomes more severe if it is not addressed properly. The government needs to focus on providing education and training to the people so that they can compete in the job market.

The government needs to understand that joblessness is one of the most important issues that need to be addressed. A developing and improving economic system would allow the country to stand on its own.

On the other hand, if the economic system is stagnant and highly dependent on support from other countries, the country will be vulnerable. In such countries, the people, the people, in support can be used to achieve its objectives.

The government needs to ensure that the joblessness problem becomes more severe if it is not addressed properly. The government needs to focus on providing education and training to the people so that they can compete in the job market.

The government needs to understand that joblessness is one of the most important issues that need to be addressed. A developing and improving economic system would allow the country to stand on its own.

On the other hand, if the economic system is stagnant and highly dependent on support from other countries, the country will be vulnerable. In such countries, the people, the people, in support can be used to achieve its objectives.

The government needs to ensure that the joblessness problem becomes more severe if it is not addressed properly. The government needs to focus on providing education and training to the people so that they can compete in the job market.