Afghans Slam MPs for Unruly Behavior in Parliament

KABUL - On International Day of Parliamentarism, Afghans voiced their unhappiness about MPs and said they were not working for the people.

Asked for their opinion about the country’s lawmakers on International Day of Parliamentarism, Afghans from around the country on Saturday accused members of the Wolesi Jirga (the Lower House of Parliament) of being inefficient and of putting their own interests first.

“The representatives in the National Assembly only think about their own economic gains, and have forgotten the national interests,” Farooq Majrooh, an MP, said.

“During the elections, MPs appealed to the people and said they belonged to the people. But when the election is over, they forget the people and their promises,” Abid Rahman Stanikzai, another Kabul resident, said.

These remarks come after tensions flared in Wednesday’s session which led to a scuffle in parliament.

The incident happened when Badakhshan MP Abdul Latif Pepe criticized government over the country’s road conditions.
