Reactions to the Establishment of New Dar-Al-Fatwa in Afghanistan

By: Mohammad Zahir Akbari

F or the first time, the government has established a New Dar-Al-Fatwa (Religious Fatwa Issuance Center) aiming to have a specific address for issuance of religious fatwas. The new center is intended to be both a stimulus for a political and social revolution in the country and a measure to prevent war crimes.

The Taliban would have welcomed a similar establishment of Dar-Al-Fatwa as a sign of the government's real commitment to the peace process. However, the Taliban's position on the issue of Dar-Al-Fatwa was not explicitly clear. They were concerned about the fatwas that would be issued by the new center, as the Taliban believed that the fatwas would not be consistent with their political and religious ideology. They saw the establishment of a new Dar-Al-Fatwa as a sign of the government's real commitment to the peace process.

The establishment of this center has a dual purpose: to provide a platform for religious leaders to issue fatwas, and to prevent war crimes. This is because the Taliban had issued fatwas that they believed to be consistent with their political and religious ideology. However, the Taliban had issued some fatwas that were considered to be inconsistent with their political and religious ideology. The establishment of a new Dar-Al-Fatwa would have provided a platform for religious leaders to issue fatwas that were consistent with the Taliban's political and religious ideology.

One of the main reasons for the establishment of a new Dar-Al-Fatwa is to prevent war crimes. The Taliban had issued some fatwas that were considered to be war crimes. For example, the Taliban had issued a fatwa that allowed the use of suicide bombing as a legitimate means of warfare. This fatwa was considered to be war crimes.

The establishment of a new Dar-Al-Fatwa would have provided a platform for religious leaders to issue fatwas that were consistent with the Taliban's political and religious ideology. This would have helped to prevent war crimes.

In conclusion, the establishment of a New Dar-Al-Fatwa is a positive step towards the prevention of war crimes. The new center would have provided a platform for religious leaders to issue fatwas that were consistent with the Taliban's political and religious ideology. This would have helped to prevent war crimes.

By: Rajkumar Singh

B lack Obama succeeded George William Bush as the 44th President of the United States of America on 20 January 2009. It marked a veritable revolution, a radical break from the past. It marked the beginning of a new era in America's history.

The new President of the United States of America made a significant policy shift in the war on terror. In fact, it was a significant change in the way America engaged in the region. It was a shift from unilateral to multilateral approach.

The new President of the United States of America made a significant policy shift in the war on terror. In fact, it was a significant change in the way America engaged in the region. It was a shift from unilateral to multilateral approach.

The new President of the United States of America made a significant policy shift in the war on terror. In fact, it was a significant change in the way America engaged in the region. It was a shift from unilateral to multilateral approach.