Drone Targets Burial Ceremony for Taliban Leader, 34 Killed

KABUL - A drone targeted the burial ceremony for a slain Taliban leader in eastern Afghanistan on Friday, killing 34 insurgents, the government and local officials said.

Several Taliban shouting “Allahu Akbar” (God is Great) were publicly hanged in the city of Ghazni, in the eastern province of Ghazni, shortly after the drone strike, a security official said.

The drone strike was launched on Thursday evening near the provincial capital of Ghazni, government sources said.

The Taliban have been fighting the Afghan security forces for more than a decade, as the events of September 11, 2001.

A security official said that the drone strike was launched by the Afghan Air Force to neutralize the Taliban leader, who was among the highest-ranking Taliban commanders in Afghanistan.

The Taliban leader was identified as Mullah Mansour, the leader of the Taliban in Afghanistan.

The drone strike was launched in response to the Taliban’s recent attack on a military base in Ghazni, which resulted in the death of 12 Afghan soldiers.
