GHANII, KHALIDZAD RENEW CALL FOR INTRA-AFGHAN DIALOGUE

President Ashraf Ghani and US special envoy Zalmay Khalilzad have underlined the need for an intra-Afghan dialogue on ending the ongoing war in the country.

KABUL - The Ministry of Interior Affairs (MoI) is preparing to file charges against 27 individuals, among them Haji Raza, a feed contractor who is accused of embezzling 97.5 million afghani (around $1.2 billion) from meat supply in one year by over-billing the security agency.

57,413 kilograms of meat on the market was found to be over-billed by police commanders. In some cases, when police commanders were receiving 10,000 kilograms of meat in bills by police commanders. The company was supplying 5,000 kilograms of meat in one year by police commanders.

Kabul police commander said on Monday, “We applied for permission from the Interior Ministry to keep them for a longer period under the monitoring. The case will be finalized as soon as possible and will be referred to the office of the attorney general,” said police spokesman Noorullah Rahmani.

A legal expert said the Interior Ministry is delayed the bill by delaying the case. “The attorney general is obliged to ask if something takes a longer period, it means it should ask the police,” said former police chief Abdul Salam Mahboob.

But Raza’s defense lawyer insisted that his client is innocent. “We have not received any response from them against us,” said Raza’s defense lawyer. “We have invested in the business since it was initially set up in 2005.

“We entrusted our expertise into practice for transparency and will be referred to the Order of Engagement, the contract with the MoI, pursuant to Article 146(4) of the Constitution, to investigate separate complaints brought against the three persons by Ghanaian citizens, recommended their removal from office.”

Ghana’s office said Khalilzad briefed the president on his trips to Europe and future plans with regard to the peace process. The discussions were mostly focused on intra-Afghan... More on P6-D2

New Zealand to Withdraw Troops from Iraq

WELLINGTON - New Zealand will withdraw its troops from Iraq by June next year, Prime Minister Jacinda Ardern said on Monday, ending a mission that helped train Iraqi security forces.

The support was for a sum of $2,570,000 which the Electoral Commission was to apply to improve its ICT environment. In October 2016, the chairperson, the minister of finance/designate and the USAID mission angler signed a grant document titled ‘Implementation commitment,’ Ardern told a news conference to announce the decision. KABUL - In line with the election law, two members of the ECC should be foreigners who would share their experiences with local commissioners for free and fair polls and would bring their expertise into practice for transparent polls.

Mrs Charlotte Osei breached procurement laws in the award of several contracts, prior to the 2016 elections in Ghana, the Graphic Online claimed. Their removal was based on recommendations from a committee that investigated corruption and misconduct allegations against them. They accused Mrs Osei of taking unilateral decisions without recourse to the appropriate departments of the EC.

The group also accused the EC chairperson of engaging of fraudulent activities, citing her decision to cancel a contract awarded to Suprefix Technologies Limited (STL) to supply and manage Biometric Voter Registration (BVR) machines and Biometric Voter Devices (BVDs), as well as her directive for the offshore companies to continue to send the said money to Ghana, as it was initially set up in 2005.

New Zealand, which has up to 9 troops in Iraq, deployed troops there in 2011, in a joint training mission with Australia to support the multinational U.S.-led coalition forces in Afghanistan.

“Over the next 12 months, New Zealand will be working very closely with the US to include that commitment,” Ardern told a news conference to announce the decision. More on P6-D2
