12) Iran Completes

Relations between Kabul and Tehran, Iran, have been tense in recent years and Iran faces a difficult balancing act in Afghanistan. There are many options available to Iran to achieve its goals and the key question is how to achieve them and whether they can be achieved.

13) Afghanistan

The Afghan government has recently announced that it will turn the town of Lashkar Gah into a "safe zone" for residents of Helmand province. This move is expected to boost security and stability in the region, which has been wracked by conflict for decades.

14) Migrants Play

The UN High Commissioner for Refugees has stressed the importance of promoting safe and dignified migration routes. Without safe migration routes, many migrants are forced to take dangerous and life-threatening journeys.

15) Kazan Residents

Kazan residents are preparing for the upcoming presidential elections, which will be held in April. The elections are expected to be a key test of the government’s stability and the public’s support for the president.

16) Nepal

The government of Nepal is working towards improving health care services in the country. The focus is on providing better health care to the rural population, especially in remote areas.

17) World Cup

The World Cup is one of the most prestigious and biggest sporting events in the world. This year’s tournament will be held in Russia and will feature teams from all over the world.

18) Migrant-Fraught

According to UNICEF, an estimated 168 million children worldwide are living in migrant-fraught households. This highlights the need for improved policies and support for migrant families.