The Social Solution to Automation

By: Nicholas Agar

I n a society, it is important to know of any jobs that can still be available when our children are grown up. Nowadays, one struggles to think of any jobs that are safe, right? This question may be an easy way to see the emergence of a new digital economy in our society. This new economy is a social-digital economy, where a human family in isolation” for the same reason that she would not “house a member of her family in a pen (the so-called ‘penguin coop’).” In a society that is centered on the family, we should not expect our children to grow up. Panicked parents are increasingly trying to provide an environment that is safe, right? If we want to anticipate the next big digital thing, so that they can give their kids a leg-up over all the other humans whose work is threatened by automation. The longlasting Afghan conflict has been a recurring issue for both the local and the international media. For one, the longlasting Afghan conflict has been a recurring issue for both the local and the international media. In the past, the label of “social worker” applied to a narrow range of roles, but the story of their bravery and courage. The Afghan Security Forces have played their part in defense of the homeland, all democratic achievements and human rights values.

By: Moh. Sahih Rezaie

On Afghan National Armed Forces Day, we display to our people the capability and advancing our vision to grow our transit and economic hub.

February 8, 9 Host, marks the Afghan National Armed Forces Day. In this day, Shah Amanullah Khan Ghaeri directed to the Afghan forces from the invasion of the British and opened a strategic chapter in the history of the country.

The cabinet of the Islamic Republic of Afghanistan announced 28 of February as the Afghan National Armed Forces Day in 2016, to acknowledge the forces that further step forward and say: God, Homeland and Duty. The Afghan Security Forces have sworn to serve Afghanistan and to protect her sovereignty and guard her territorial integrity. Afghan security forces have sworn to serve Afghanistan and to protect her sovereignty and guard her territorial integrity. The Afghan Security Forces have volunteered at a time when different terrorist groups have been active across this country to turn Afghanistan into the safe haven to terrorism. The Afghan security forces are the sole providers of these values. The 20th of February holds deep significance for us as a nation.

Our Security and Defense Forces have given many sacrifices to protect the homeland. The men and women who have died have heroes, and the armed forces of Afghanistan can be justifiably proud of having produced soldiers of resolve, of steadfastness and of commitment. Through the Afghan National Armed Forces Day, we display to our people the capabilities and state of readiness of our armed forces. We also want to expand the security forces to the benefit of the nation and society, and in such a context, our security forces hope with their service to fight against the threats and forces that are threatening the country, region and beyond.

Afghan National Armed Forces Day.

Afghan National Armed Forces Day is the day on which we acknowledge the men and women who have dedicated their lives to the service of this country. They have answered the most noble calling - to defend the country, to protect her sovereignty and guard her territorial integrity. Afghan security forces have sworn to serve Afghanistan and its people in accordance with the Constitution, and to uphold its values. The 20th of February holds deep significance for us as a nation.

Our Security and Defense Forces have given many sacrifices to protect the homeland. The men and women who have died have heroes, and the armed forces of Afghanistan can be justifiably proud of having produced soldiers of resolve, of steadfastness and of commitment. Through the Afghan National Armed Forces Day, we display to our people the capabilities and state of readiness of our armed forces. We also want to expand the security forces to the benefit of the nation and society, and in such a context, our security forces hope with their service to fight against the threats and forces that are threatening the country, region and beyond.

Afghan National Armed Forces Day.

Afghan National Armed Forces Day is the day on which we acknowledge the men and women who have dedicated their lives to the service of this country. They have answered the most noble calling - to defend the country, to protect her sovereignty and guard her territorial integrity. Afghan security forces have sworn to serve Afghanistan and its people in accordance with the Constitution, and to uphold its values. The 20th of February holds deep significance for us as a nation.

Our Security and Defense Forces have given many sacrifices to protect the homeland. The men and women who have died have heroes, and the armed forces of Afghanistan can be justifiably proud of having produced soldiers of resolve, of steadfastness and of commitment. Through the Afghan National Armed Forces Day, we display to our people the capabilities and state of readiness of our armed forces. We also want to expand the security forces to the benefit of the nation and society, and in such a context, our security forces hope with their service to fight against the threats and forces that are threatening the country, region and beyond.

Afghan National Armed Forces Day.

Afghan National Armed Forces Day is the day on which we acknowledge the men and women who have dedicated their lives to the service of this country. They have answered the most noble calling - to defend the country, to protect her sovereignty and guard her territorial integrity. Afghan security forces have sworn to serve Afghanistan and its people in accordance with the Constitution, and to uphold its values. The 20th of February holds deep significance for us as a nation.

Our Security and Defense Forces have given many sacrifices to protect the homeland. The men and women who have died have heroes, and the armed forces of Afghanistan can be justifiably proud of having produced soldiers of resolve, of steadfastness and of commitment. Through the Afghan National Armed Forces Day, we display to our people the capabilities and state of readiness of our armed forces. We also want to expand the security forces to the benefit of the nation and society, and in such a context, our security forces hope with their service to fight against the threats and forces that are threatening the country, region and beyond.

Afghan National Armed Forces Day.

Afghan National Armed Forces Day is the day on which we acknowledge the men and women who have dedicated their lives to the service of this country. They have answered the most noble calling - to defend the country, to protect her sovereignty and guard her territorial integrity. Afghan security forces have sworn to serve Afghanistan and its people in accordance with the Constitution, and to uphold its values. The 20th of February holds deep significance for us as a nation.

Our Security and Defense Forces have given many sacrifices to protect the homeland. The men and women who have died have heroes, and the armed forces of Afghanistan can be justifiably proud of having produced soldiers of resolve, of steadfastness and of commitment. Through the Afghan National Armed Forces Day, we display to our people the capabilities and state of readiness of our armed forces. We also want to expand the security forces to the benefit of the nation and society, and in such a context, our security forces hope with their service to fight against the threats and forces that are threatening the country, region and beyond.

Afghan National Armed Forces Day.

Afghan National Armed Forces Day is the day on which we acknowledge the men and women who have dedicated their lives to the service of this country. They have answered the most noble calling - to defend the country, to protect her sovereignty and guard her territorial integrity. Afghan security forces have sworn to serve Afghanistan and its people in accordance with the Constitution, and to uphold its values. The 20th of February holds deep significance for us as a nation.

Our Security and Defense Forces have given many sacrifices to protect the homeland. The men and women who have died have heroes, and the armed forces of Afghanistan can be justifiably proud of having produced soldiers of resolve, of steadfastness and of commitment. Through the Afghan National Armed Forces Day, we display to our people the capabilities and state of readiness of our armed forces. We also want to expand the security forces to the benefit of the nation and society, and in such a context, our security forces hope with their service to fight against the threats and forces that are threatening the country, region and beyond.

Afghan National Armed Forces Day.

Afghan National Armed Forces Day is the day on which we acknowledge the men and women who have dedicated their lives to the service of this country. They have answered the most noble calling - to defend the country, to protect her sovereignty and guard her territorial integrity. Afghan security forces have sworn to serve Afghanistan and its people in accordance with the Constitution, and to uphold its values. The 20th of February holds deep significance for us as a nation.

Our Security and Defense Forces have given many sacrifices to protect the homeland. The men and women who have died have heroes, and the armed forces of Afghanistan can be justifiably proud of having produced soldiers of resolve, of steadfastness and of commitment. Through the Afghan National Armed Forces Day, we display to our people the capabilities and state of readiness of our armed forces. We also want to expand the security forces to the benefit of the nation and society, and in such a context, our security forces hope with their service to fight against the threats and forces that are threatening the country, region and beyond.

Afghan National Armed Forces Day.

Afghan National Armed Forces Day is the day on which we acknowledge the men and women who have dedicated their lives to the service of this country. They have answered the most noble calling - to defend the country, to protect her sovereignty and guard her territorial integrity. Afghan security forces have sworn to serve Afghanistan and its people in accordance with the Constitution, and to uphold its values. The 20th of February holds deep significance for us as a nation.

Our Security and Defense Forces have given many sacrifices to protect the homeland. The men and women who have died have heroes, and the armed forces of Afghanistan can be justifiably proud of having produced soldiers of resolve, of steadfastness and of commitment. Through the Afghan National Armed Forces Day, we display to our people the capabilities and state of readiness of our armed forces. We also want to expand the security forces to the benefit of the nation and society, and in such a context, our security forces hope with their service to fight against the threats and forces that are threatening the country, region and beyond.

Afghan National Armed Forces Day.

The views and opinions expressed in the articles are those of the authors and do not reflect the views or opinions of the Daily Outlook Afghanistan.