we tell them that we know our country better than you. Without General (Abdul Rabb) Qadri, there is a gap in one part of the country and it should not be the case that all of the women and all of the men and all of the people of Afghanistan, including the women have been awaiting the Taliban and we are in the path of the Taliban. The Afghan government's peace offer to Taliban has failed to secure people's trust in the political process. Therefore, the Taliban should not be trusted.

The Taliban must be transformed into a democratic and peaceful system that respects the rights of all Afghans, including women. The international community must work towards this goal and ensure that the Taliban are held accountable for their past actions.

The Afghan government should continue to engage with the Taliban and other groups to find a resolution that respects the rights of all Afghans. This must be a peaceful resolution that is inclusive and transparent. The international community must continue to support the Afghan government in this effort.

We must all work towards a future in which all Afghans can participate fully in the political and social life of the country. This requires ongoing efforts by the Afghan government, the international community, and all Afghans to promote peace, stability, and human rights. Only through these efforts can we achieve a better future for Afghanistan and its people.
