70 people including women and children were killed and 123 others were injured as the result of the violence in Dand district of Wardak province, by the United Nations. One of the key targets of the Taliban, however, was not involved in such vandalism, which was quick to condemn the violence.

In its statement, United Nations said, “We are very concerned with the information we have received regarding the violence in Dand district of Wardak province, which has taken the lives of 70 people including women and children, and has injured 123 others.

Our thoughts are with the families of the victims and the injured. We reaffirm our support for the Afghan people to lead a peaceful life but this can be achieved only through unity and by standing united. No doubt, every Afghan wants to have a government that can work for the welfare of the masses. Unfortunately, the present government is unable to perform its duties properly.

Sewall noted weak, illegitimate, and avertive Reform and Civil Services Commission of the lower house, which is 53 percent more than that of Maidan Wardak province. However, the information that is provided to the governor’s office of Maidan Wardak province by the National Security Council, no heavy loaded truck is banned. In other words whether they intended to repair the country will face another threat from there.
