17. "It is just after receiving gratitude from the international community for support that the insurgents have become bold. More than a decade, the base has been established in all 34 provinces and the education is being imparted to the children in almost all the areas."

18. The government’s decision comes in the wake of international pressure to establish a "safe zone" for women and children in Afghanistan.

19. The decision is based on the principle that education is a human right and that no child should be denied access to education due to gender. It is a step towards providing equal opportunities for boys and girls in Afghanistan's education system.

20. The move is aimed at increasing enrollment rates, especially for girls, and promoting gender equality in education.

21. The International Human Rights Council (IHRC) has welcomed the move, describing it as a significant step forward for gender equality in Afghanistan.

22. The decision aims to address the gender disparities in education, where girls are often denied access to primary and secondary education.

23. The government has also pledged to ensure the safety and security of girls in schools and to provide them with adequate facilities.

24. The move is part of a broader strategy to improve the overall quality of education in Afghanistan and to ensure that all children, regardless of gender, have access to education.

25. The government has set a target of increasing the gross enrollment ratio to 90% by 2030, with a focus on girls.

26. The decision is in line with the United Nations' Sustainable Development Goal (SDG) 4 on Education, which aims to ensure inclusive and equitable quality education and promote lifelong learning opportunities for all.

27. The government has committed to providing equal opportunities for girls and boys in all levels of education, including tertiary education.

28. The move is expected to have a significant impact on the gender parity in education and will contribute to the overall development of Afghanistan.

29. The government has also emphasized the need for community engagement and partnership in ensuring the implementation of the decision.

30. TheMove is an important step towards achieving the SDG 4 and ensuring that no child is left behind in the education journey.

Ahmad Qadam, who also addressed the conference, said: "Water is the huge need of human beings and it is the need of life. Without water, human beings can live without life. The only solution is to protect life and life is bound with water."

Abdul Samad, a south Afghan journalist, also expressed concern about the state of water. He said many areas in Afghanistan are facing water shortage due to lack of rain.

Mohammad Daud Khan, a south Afghan journalist, also expressed concern about the state of water. He said many areas in Afghanistan are facing water shortage due to lack of rain.
