The city has become ruthless these days. It has become intolerant to human emotions and humanity. Whether it is the street vendors or the vendors of food, there is a cruel and mean atmosphere in the whole. The sky has become grey and the winds have turned almost violent.

The people have become ferocious and barbarous. They seem to be ready to steel a heart, attack them and tear them asunder. There is a change – something more needs to be done. Something more needs to be done.

The rare security personnel present at the sight unknown either to play a mediatory role, is sickening. Desperately, despite the presence of guards and order and the panorama took place and they kept getting amused at the degradation and the search for knowledge? Why don't we open our minds to let the society prove what we are naturally the best of the creatures and claim something that can teach a lesson to those who will to do such things again? There has to be a way to salvation for the coldblooded and the way to our survival?

By Dilawar Sherzai

Our city has become ruthless these days. It has become intolerant to human emotions and humanity. Whether it is the street vendors or the vendors of food, there is a cruel and mean atmosphere in the whole. The sky has become grey and the winds have turned almost violent. The people have become ferocious and barbarous. They seem to be ready to steel a heart, attack them and tear them asunder.
There is a change – something more needs to be done.

The rare security personnel present at the sight unknown
either to play a mediatory role, is sickening. Desperately, despite the presence of guards and order and the panorama took place and they kept getting amused at the degradation and the search for knowledge? Why don't we open our minds to let the society prove what we are naturally the best of the creatures and claim something that can teach a lesson to those who will to do such things again? There has to be a way to salvation for the coldblooded and the way to our survival?

By Dilawar Sherzai

Our city has become ruthless these days. It has become intolerant to human emotions and humanity. Whether it is
the street vendors or the vendors of food, there is a cruel
and mean atmosphere in the whole. The sky has become
grey and the winds have turned almost violent. The people have become ferocious and barbarous. They seem to be ready to steel a heart, attack them and tear them asunder.
There is a change – something more needs to be done.

The rare security personnel present at the sight unknown
either to play a mediatory role, is sickening. Desperately,
despite the presence of guards and order and the panorama
took place and they kept getting amused at the degradation
and the search for knowledge? Why don't we open our minds
to let the society prove what we are naturally the best of the
creatures and claim something that can teach a lesson to those who will to do such things again? There has to be a way to salvation for the coldblooded and the way to our survival?

Our city has become ruthless these days. It has become intolerant to human emotions and humanity. Whether it is
the street vendors or the vendors of food, there is a cruel
and mean atmosphere in the whole. The sky has become
grey and the winds have turned almost violent. The people have become ferocious and barbarous. They seem to be ready to steel a heart, attack them and tear them asunder.
There is a change – something more needs to be done.

The rare security personnel present at the sight unknown
either to play a mediatory role, is sickening. Desperately,
despite the presence of guards and order and the panorama
took place and they kept getting amused at the degradation
and the search for knowledge? Why don't we open our minds
to let the society prove what we are naturally the best of the
creatures and claim something that can teach a lesson to those who will to do such things again? There has to be a way to salvation for the coldblooded and the way to our survival?

Our city has become ruthless these days. It has become intolerant to human emotions and humanity. Whether it is
the street vendors or the vendors of food, there is a cruel
and mean atmosphere in the whole. The sky has become
grey and the winds have turned almost violent. The people have become ferocious and barbarous. They seem to be ready to steel a heart, attack them and tear them asunder.
There is a change – something more needs to be done.

The rare security personnel present at the sight unknown
either to play a mediatory role, is sickening. Desperately,
despite the presence of guards and order and the panorama
took place and they kept getting amused at the degradation
and the search for knowledge? Why don't we open our minds
to let the society prove what we are naturally the best of the
creatures and claim something that can teach a lesson to those who will to do such things again? There has to be a way to salvation for the coldblooded and the way to our survival?

Our city has become ruthless these days. It has become intolerant to human emotions and humanity. Whether it is
the street vendors or the vendors of food, there is a cruel
and mean atmosphere in the whole. The sky has become
grey and the winds have turned almost violent. The people have become ferocious and barbarous. They seem to be ready to steel a heart, attack them and tear them asunder.
There is a change – something more needs to be done.

The rare security personnel present at the sight unknown
either to play a mediatory role, is sickening. Desperately,
despite the presence of guards and order and the panorama
took place and they kept getting amused at the degradation
and the search for knowledge? Why don't we open our minds
to let the society prove what we are naturally the best of the
creatures and claim something that can teach a lesson to those who will to do such things again? There has to be a way to
salvation for the coldblooded and the way to our survival?

Our city has become ruthless these days. It has become intolerant to human emotions and humanity. Whether it is
the street vendors or the vendors of food, there is a cruel
and mean atmosphere in the whole. The sky has become
grey and the winds have turned almost violent. The people have become ferocious and barbarous. They seem to be ready to steel a heart, attack them and tear them asunder.
There is a change – something more needs to be done.

The rare security personnel present at the sight unknown
either to play a mediatory role, is sickening. Desperately,
despite the presence of guards and order and the panorama
took place and they kept getting amused at the degradation
and the search for knowledge? Why don't we open our minds
to let the society prove what we are naturally the best of the
creatures and claim something that can teach a lesson to those who will to do such things again? There has to be a way to salvation for the coldblooded and the way to our survival?

Our city has become ruthless these days. It has become intolerant to human emotions and humanity. Whether it is
the street vendors or the vendors of food, there is a cruel
and mean atmosphere in the whole. The sky has become
grey and the winds have turned almost violent. The people have become ferocious and barbarous. They seem to be ready to steel a heart, attack them and tear them asunder.
There is a change – something more needs to be done.

The rare security personnel present at the sight unknown
either to play a mediatory role, is sickening. Desperately,
despite the presence of guards and order and the panorama
took place and they kept getting amused at the degradation
and the search for knowledge? Why don't we open our minds
to let the society prove what we are naturally the best of the
creatures and claim something that can teach a lesson to those who will to do such things again? There has to be a way to salvation for the coldblooded and the way to our survival?

Our city has become ruthless these days. It has become intolerant to human emotions and humanity. Whether it is
the street vendors or the vendors of food, there is a cruel
and mean atmosphere in the whole. The sky has become
grey and the winds have turned almost violent. The people have become ferocious and barbarous. They seem to be ready to steel a heart, attack them and tear them asunder.
There is a change – something more needs to be done.

The rare security personnel present at the sight unknown
either to play a mediatory role, is sickening. Desperately,
despite the presence of guards and order and the panorama
took place and they kept getting amused at the degradation
and the search for knowledge? Why don't we open our minds
to let the society prove what we are naturally the best of the
creatures and claim something that can teach a lesson to those who will to do such things again? There has to be a way to salvation for the coldblooded and the way to our survival?

Our city has become ruthless these days. It has become intolerant to human emotions and humanity. Whether it is
the street vendors or the vendors of food, there is a cruel
and mean atmosphere in the whole. The sky has become
grey and the winds have turned almost violent. The people have become ferocious and barbarous. They seem to be ready to steel a heart, attack them and tear them asunder.
There is a change – something more needs to be done.

The rare security personnel present at the sight unknown
either to play a mediatory role, is sickening. Desperately,
despite the presence of guards and order and the panorama
took place and they kept getting amused at the degradation
and the search for knowledge? Why don't we open our minds
to let the society prove what we are naturally the best of the
creatures and claim something that can teach a lesson to those who will to do such things again? There has to be a way to salvation for the coldblooded and the way to our survival?

Our city has become ruthless these days. It has become intolerant to human emotions and humanity. Whether it is
the street vendors or the vendors of food, there is a cruel
and mean atmosphere in the whole. The sky has become
grey and the winds have turned almost violent. The people have become ferocious and barbarous. They seem to be ready to steel a heart, attack them and tear them asunder.
There is a change – something more needs to be done.

The rare security personnel present at the sight unknown
either to play a mediatory role, is sickening. Desperately,
despite the presence of guards and order and the panorama
took place and they kept getting amused at the degradation
and the search for knowledge? Why don't we open our minds
to let the society prove what we are naturally the best of the
creatures and claim something that can teach a lesson to those who will to do such things again? There has to be a way to salvation for the coldblooded and the way to our survival?

Our city has become ruthless these days. It has become intolerant to human emotions and humanity. Whether it is
the street vendors or the vendors of food, there is a cruel
and mean atmosphere in the whole. The sky has become
grey and the winds have turned almost violent. The people have become ferocious and barbarous. They seem to be ready to steel a heart, attack them and tear them asunder.
There is a change – something more needs to be done.

The rare security personnel present at the sight unknown
either to play a mediatory role, is sickening. Desperately,
despite the presence of guards and order and the panorama
took place and they kept getting amused at the degradation
and the search for knowledge? Why don't we open our minds
to let the society prove what we are naturally the best of the
creatures and claim something that can teach a lesson to those who will to do such things again? There has to be a way to salvation for the coldblooded and the way to our survival?