US Announces Additional Humanitarian Aids for Afghanistan

Washington - The United States on Tuesday granted more than USD 6 million additional humanitarian aid to war-torn Afghanistan to meet the needs of vulnerable communities, displaced persons and returning refugees across Afghanistan.

The new funding will provide emergency food assistance, nutrition services, hygiene kits, safe drinking water, access to latrines, and protection for people in the most affected regions of Afghanistan.

The aid from the US will also help Afghan refugees who face the challenge of reintegrating into Afghan communities.

With this new funding, the United States is the single largest donor of humanitarian assistance to Afghanistan, providing more than USD 293 million since Fiscal Year (FY) 2018.

This additional funding complements ongoing U.S. support, such as the provision of safe drinking water, improved sanitation, shelter, relief supplies, food, livelihoods opportunities, nutrition and health care for refugees, returnees and people displaced by natural disasters, drought and conflict.

Kabul - Afghanistan’s First Lady Rula Ghani on Wednesday rejected any political motives behind money distributed to women in eastern Nangarhar province.

Footages published on social media show that a group of anti-government armed men set on fire the money which has been distributed to women in Nangarhar province by the office of Rula Ghani.

Rula Ghani has been accused in Nangarhar province by anti-government armed men of election campaign by分布 to women in the most affected regions of Afghanistan.

Rula Ghani has been assisted to women and said the money that was set on fire the money which has been distributed to women in Nangarhar province was distributed by her office was only aimed at helping poor women.

ISLAMABAD - PM Imran Khan’s comments on Afghanistan were misinterpreted: The PM had referred to Pakistan’s model where elections are held under an interim government. The comments should not be misconstrued to undermine Afghanistan’s ownership.

Pakistan has no other interest in Afghanistan but to promote peace through an ‘Afghan owned’ and ‘Afghan led’ political process.

PM of Pakistan has taken personal interest in facilitating the ongoing political reconciliation process and the same must not be misconstrued to undermine the sincere efforts of Pakistan to create misunderstandings at this crucial stage of the process.

KABUL - A statement from the Presidential Palace in Kabul released by Pajhwok Afghan News said both sides discussed the Afghan peace process under leadership and ownership of the Afghan government.

President Ghani invited the Pakistanis premier to visit Afghanistan at his earliest convenience and Khan reciprocated by inviting the Afghan president to visit Pakistan.

The telephone contact between President Ghani and Pakistani premier Imran Khan coincides with US representative for reconciliation in Afghanistan Zalmai Khalilzad’s ongoing multi-nation trip.
