Afghanistan Beats Cambodia 2-1 in Asian Cup Qualifier

In its annual report for 2017, the UN found that efforts to improve human rights in the country, the situation was still dire.

Human Rights Remain Elusive for Afghans: UN

Afghanistan Air Force Force Drops First Laser-Guided Bomb

The ministry of defense has confirmed the Afghan Air Force will continue to target Taliban strongholds with this technology.

Muster Courage and Respond to Peace Offer, Taliban Told

KABUL – The UN High Commissioner for Refugees (UNHCR) and the United Nations Population Fund (UNFPA) have launched a pilot program to help provide sustainable livelihood opportunities to both Afghan refugees and Palestinian nationals, a statement from the UN refugee agency said on Wednesday.

The poverty graduation program is an approach that aims to help families living in extreme poverty on less than $1.92 a day and having no access to basic services. The approach brings innovative and market-based methods together to help people become independent and provide them with sustainable livelihood opportunities, the statement said.

The government and UNHCR hold that 14,000 Afghan refugees are living in Pakistan and 30 per cent of them will be Afghan refugees and 30 per cent Pakistani nationals.

The poverty graduation program is an approach that aims to help families living in extreme poverty on less than $1.92 a day and having no access to basic services. The approach brings innovative and market-based methods together to help people become independent and provide them with sustainable livelihood opportunities, the statement said.

The government and UNHCR hold that 14,000 Afghan refugees are living in Pakistan and 30 per cent of them will be Afghan refugees and 30 per cent Pakistani nationals.

KABUL – The UN High Commissioner for Refugees (UNHCR) and the United Nations Population Fund (UNFPA) have launched a pilot program to help provide sustainable livelihood opportunities to both Afghan refugees and Palestinian nationals, a statement from the UN refugee agency said on Wednesday.

The poverty graduation program is an approach that aims to help families living in extreme poverty on less than $1.92 a day and having no access to basic services. The approach brings innovative and market-based methods together to help people become independent and provide them with sustainable livelihood opportunities, the statement said.

The government and UNHCR hold that 14,000 Afghan refugees are living in Pakistan and 30 per cent of them will be Afghan refugees and 30 per cent Pakistani nationals.

The poverty graduation program is an approach that aims to help families living in extreme poverty on less than $1.92 a day and having no access to basic services. The approach brings innovative and market-based methods together to help people become independent and provide them with sustainable livelihood opportunities, the statement said.

The government and UNHCR hold that 14,000 Afghan refugees are living in Pakistan and 30 per cent of them will be Afghan refugees and 30 per cent Pakistani nationals.

KABUL – The UN High Commissioner for Refugees (UNHCR) and the United Nations Population Fund (UNFPA) have launched a pilot program to help provide sustainable livelihood opportunities to both Afghan refugees and Palestinian nationals, a statement from the UN refugee agency said on Wednesday.

The poverty graduation program is an approach that aims to help families living in extreme poverty on less than $1.92 a day and having no access to basic services. The approach brings innovative and market-based methods together to help people become independent and provide them with sustainable livelihood opportunities, the statement said.

The government and UNHCR hold that 14,000 Afghan refugees are living in Pakistan and 30 per cent of them will be Afghan refugees and 30 per cent Pakistani nationals.

The poverty graduation program is an approach that aims to help families living in extreme poverty on less than $1.92 a day and having no access to basic services. The approach brings innovative and market-based methods together to help people become independent and provide them with sustainable livelihood opportunities, the statement said.

The government and UNHCR hold that 14,000 Afghan refugees are living in Pakistan and 30 per cent of them will be Afghan refugees and 30 per cent Pakistani nationals.