Afganistan and Pakistan leaders once again reiterated their determination for building closer relations and cooperating on the Afghan peace efforts. The Afghan President Mian Muhammad Nawaz Sharif's visit to Kabul is sure to add impetus to the Afghan government's efforts to kickstart talks with the Taliban. At a joint press conference in Kabul on May 13, 2015, President Muhammad Ashraf Ghani addressed the nation and said that the two nations would never again become victims of short-sighted approaches. Pakistan's Prime Minister, Nawaz Sharif, said that the Afghan President is a true party to the peace process and that Pakistan is a ‘good neighbor’ of Afghanistan. The Afghan President is on an official visit to Pakistan to meet his Pakistan counterpart. This visit comes after the US became the mediator in the Afghan-Pakistan talks.

The US-led counter-terrorism strategy launched in the aftermath of the 9/11 terror attacks in New York and Washington, D.C., failed to deal with the Afghan Taliban. The Taliban militants were decentralized and their regime was dismantled in the beginning, however the triumph was short-lived. Even now, America's military involvement in Afghanistan is now at war with thousands of coalition forces engaged in fierce fight with revitalized and reformed Afghan Insurgents. The ragtag militants, who seemed to disappear forever, were now back as the US and their NATO allies were fighting against the Taliban in Afghanistan.

Low-level violence in Afghanistan is now at war with thousands of coalition forces engaged in fierce fight with revitalized and reformed Afghan Insurgents. The ragtag militants, who seemed to disappear forever, were now back as the US and their NATO allies were fighting against the Taliban in Afghanistan.

Also, the Taliban's decision to engage in talks with the US in Qatar has given hope to Afghan and Pakistani negotiators. The Taliban has been encouraged in recent talks in Afghanistan. The failure to start the pledged process of talks was also interlinked with the US failure to start the talks with the Taliban. The US also turned to Pakistan as the Taliban's main negotiating partner. The Taliban delegation in Qatar is a result of Afghanistan's new policy's cooperation between the neighbors and regional countries to stop extremism and terrorism. The three key points of an Afghan-Pakistani talks in recent months, the relations between Afghanistan and Pakistan have improved rapidly and the two sides have reached meaningful understanding on how to cooperate for peace in Afghanistan.

In fact, the civil government of Pakistan has suggested from the beginning of taking fewer steps in the country that it was ready to do more for Afghanistan for making a peace deal with the Taliban. Initially, the helped the two countries to build mutual trust required for cooperation on the desire of peace in Afghanistan. However, the efforts of Pakistan's policy towards Afghan issues has been almost unprecedented. As result of Afghanistan's new policies' cooperation between the neighbors and regional countries to stop extremism and terrorism. As a result of Afghanistan's new policy, the government of Pakistan has been able to improve rapidly and the two sides have reached meaningful understanding on how to cooperate for peace in Afghanistan. The Afghan-Pakistani talks in recent months, the relations between Afghanistan and Pakistan have improved rapidly and the two sides have reached meaningful understanding on how to cooperate for peace in Afghanistan.

The civil government of Pakistan has suggested from the beginning of taking fewer steps in the country that it was ready to do more for Afghanistan for making a peace deal with the Taliban. Initially, the two countries have built mutual trust required for cooperation on the desire of peace in Afghanistan. However, the efforts of Pakistan's policy towards Afghan issues has been almost unprecedented. The new policy of Afghanistan is a result of Afghanistan's new policy, the government of Pakistan has been able to improve rapidly and the two sides have reached meaningful understanding on how to cooperate for peace in Afghanistan.

The Afghan government has failed to start an immediate process of peace negotiations with the regional partners. With the warmth of the weather, the Taliban announced on May 11 that it is prepared for peace talks with the provinces across Afghanistan. The onset of a deadly spring fighting targeting vast swaths of Afghanistan and Pakistan has put an end to all the optimism in the current situation. The Taliban's decision to engage in talks with the US in Qatar has given hope to Afghan and Pakistani negotiators. The Taliban has been encouraged in recent talks in Afghanistan. The failure to start the pledged process of talks was also interlinked with the US failure to start the talks with the Taliban. The US also turned to Pakistan as the Taliban's main negotiating partner. The Taliban delegation in Qatar is a result of Afghanistan's new policy's cooperation between the neighbors and regional countries to stop extremism and terrorism. The three key points of an Afghan-Pakistani talks in recent months, the relations between Afghanistan and Pakistan have improved rapidly and the two sides have reached meaningful understanding on how to cooperate for peace in Afghanistan.

In fact, the civil government of Pakistan has suggested from the beginning of taking fewer steps in the country that it was ready to do more for Afghanistan for making a peace deal with the Taliban. Initially, the helped the two countries to build mutual trust required for cooperation on the desire of peace in Afghanistan. However, the efforts of Pakistan's policy towards Afghan issues has been almost unprecedented. As result of Afghanistan's new policies' cooperation between the neighbors and regional countries to stop extremism and terrorism. As a result of Afghanistan's new policy, the government of Pakistan has been able to improve rapidly and the two sides have reached meaningful understanding on how to cooperate for peace in Afghanistan.

The Afghan-Pakistani talks in recent months, the relations between Afghanistan and Pakistan have improved rapidly and the two sides have reached meaningful understanding on how to cooperate for peace in Afghanistan.

The Taliban's decision to engage in talks with the US in Qatar has given hope to Afghan and Pakistani negotiators. The Taliban has been encouraged in recent talks in Afghanistan. The failure to start the pledged process of talks was also interlinked with the US failure to start the talks with the Taliban. The US also turned to Pakistan as the Taliban's main negotiating partner. The Taliban delegation in Qatar is a result of Afghanistan's new policy's cooperation between the neighbors and regional countries to stop extremism and terrorism. The three key points of an Afghan-Pakistani talks in recent months, the relations between Afghanistan and Pakistan have improved rapidly and the two sides have reached meaningful understanding on how to cooperate for peace in Afghanistan.

The Afghan government has failed to start an immediate process of peace negotiations with the regional partners. With the warmth of the weather, the Taliban announced on May 11 that it is prepared for peace talks with the provinces across Afghanistan. The onset of a deadly spring fighting targeting vast swaths of Afghanistan and Pakistan has put an end to all the optimism in the current situation. The Taliban's decision to engage in talks with the US in Qatar has given hope to Afghan and Pakistani negotiators. The Taliban has been encouraged in recent talks in Afghanistan. The failure to start the pledged process of talks was also interlinked with the US failure to start the talks with the Taliban. The US also turned to Pakistan as the Taliban's main negotiating partner. The Taliban delegation in Qatar is a result of Afghanistan's new policy's cooperation between the neighbors and regional countries to stop extremism and terrorism. The three key points of an Afghan-Pakistani talks in recent months, the relations between Afghanistan and Pakistan have improved rapidly and the two sides have reached meaningful understanding on how to cooperate for peace in Afghanistan.

In fact, the civil government of Pakistan has suggested from the beginning of taking fewer steps in the country that it was ready to do more for Afghanistan for making a peace deal with the Taliban. Initially, the helped the two countries to build mutual trust required for cooperation on the desire of peace in Afghanistan. However, the efforts of Pakistan's policy towards Afghan issues has been almost unprecedented. As result of Afghanistan's new policies' cooperation between the neighbors and regional countries to stop extremism and terrorism. As a result of Afghanistan's new policy, the government of Pakistan has been able to improve rapidly and the two sides have reached meaningful understanding on how to cooperate for peace in Afghanistan.

The Afghan-Pakistani talks in recent months, the relations between Afghanistan and Pakistan have improved rapidly and the two sides have reached meaningful understanding on how to cooperate for peace in Afghanistan.