BEIJING - China's relations with the US "will be stable" despite tensions between the two governments, President Xi Jinping told responders Sunday. Mr Xi, on his first trip to Europe as state leader, said in a rare public outreach that he hoped to reform a “new normal” of peaceful coexistence and growth. The U.S. will likely be a member of the new East Asian economic cooperation agreement. The U.S. will also help provide a framework of ECO railroad projects and related construction and equipment. The EBRD is continuing to collaborate with the World Bank and the European Union, and has been actively involved in coordinating China and the US on issues such as mar-time disputes. The EBRD has been a leading financier of projects in the region, and has helped promote the development of clean energy in the region.

\begin{align*}
\text{Xi tells John Kerry: Pacific Ocean Big enough for China and US} \\ \text{WASHINGTON, D.C. - In a historic display of Chinese statecraft, President Xi Jinping} will register his voice in the international arena on Sunday by urging the US to refrain from any action that disturbs the peace and security in the region.

\end{align*}