Analysts said security officials should be asked to promote Afghanistan’s trade. "The security officials should be asked to promote Afghanistan’s trade," said Senator Zalmai Zabuli. The IEC should manage the election process in a way that all women were enabled to participate in the elections. She told Pajhwok Afghan News although women being barred from contesting the elections. "The previous elections were marred by fraud, and for this reason, she did not want to vote in the October elections. She said that if women were provided with facilities to vote, then the elections’ legitimacy would be questioned for the future elections," she added.

4) Domest May:

4) Domest May:

5) Women Up...

But Gulshat Mangal, Malabadi district’s administrative chief, said there was no lack of democracy. Despite the decision, she said the women’s participation would be crucial for the electoral process. About 2,000 girls are currently studying at the Twickenham government school, and the number would hopefully double to 4,000, she said. The agreement would help girls continue their higher education, believed the district chief, who hailed the tribal elders’ decision as a positive step.

6) Government...

Ashraf Ghani’s offer of peace talks. "We are not trying to kill it. We want to discuss the peace process,” he said. Ashraf Ghani, the president’s compound and heard a bitter irony of it. In the end, there was no agreement to protect the city and the province, where the Taliban central command is based.

If you want to make Faheem better, then you have to first be good,” he said. "In this case, we are not going to discuss whether to accept the Taliban or not. We are discussing how to protect the people."

Arman Rabbani, the government’s senior security advisor, said the Taliban is well aware of the risks involved with an offer of peace talks. "The Taliban will not sit down to negotiate unless they know that the message is reaching them," he said. Therefore, the government is trying to make sure all security threats are addressed before starting any peace talks.

Hassan and other women argue that the Taliban are not interested in providing an appropriate environment for women to come forward and contribute towards the country’s development. "We are not trying to make Faheem better, then you have to first be good," is the key to success, he said. "The Taliban are not interested in providing an appropriate environment for women to come forward and contribute towards the country’s development."

ASST. COMMANDO offseason, the Taliban have been busy recruiting in our defenders’ areas in 14 provinces in the north, north-east, south-east, and south-west.

A number of former army officials and security experts believe the Taliban’s success is due to the Afghan government’s failure to address the root causes of the conflict. According to the experts, the government’s failure to address the root causes of the conflict has allowed the Taliban to gain momentum.

IN America, the Taliban are not just a military force, but also a political entity. They have a significant influence over the Afghan government and its policies. According to experts, the Taliban’s influence over the government is due to its ability to mobilize support among the Afghan population.

5) Movements...

The Taliban have been active in Afghanistan for over a decade, and their influence over the government and its policies has increased over time. The group has been involved in numerous conflicts with the Afghan government and its allies, and has been responsible for numerous attacks.

6) Government...

The presence of the Taliban in Afghanistan has been a major concern for the international community. The United States, the European Union, and other countries have been involved in the efforts to find a political solution to the conflict.

7) Movements...

The Taliban have been active in Afghanistan for over a decade, and their influence over the government and its policies has increased over time. The group has been involved in numerous conflicts with the Afghan government and its allies, and has been responsible for numerous attacks.

8) Government...

The presence of the Taliban in Afghanistan has been a major concern for the international community. The United States, the European Union, and other countries have been involved in the efforts to find a political solution to the conflict.