If Taliban Wants to Fight, That'll be The Official End of Iran, Trump Warns

WASHINGTON - President Donald Trump has warned Tehran that it would be the “end of the Islamic Republic” if it threatens the US, just as Washington builds up its military presence near Iran under the pretext of national security.

It’s unclear what triggered the US leader around the time of, as Iranian officials have suggested, as it’s long been said that US forces are going to be fighting on different fronts, and that the Iranian regime is working hard to avoid a military conflict with the US. Earlier this week, the UN Security Council gave the green light for the US to launch a report into the situation in Yemen.

The Trump administration has recently been increasing pressure on Iran with sanctions and a military buildup near its waters. The US and its allies began enhanced maritime security operations in the Persian Gulf this week.

Antis-Rad Trade Protests as Saudi Freighter Docks in Italy

ROME - A Saudi Arabian official allegedly trying to bring Iranian arms to Yemen was killed in a firefight with Italian security forces during a surprise stop of his vessel as it arrived in Italy.

A US military official said Monday that the US is “watching very closely” the situation in Yemen, where the Trump administration has been pressuring Iran to stop providing weapons to Houthi rebels.

European powers “caught in a crossfire” of US-China trade war

EU firms “caught in crossfire” of US-China trade war

BEIJING - European firms are “caught in the crossfire” of the US-China trade war, and lower investor sentiment could translate into a slowdown in corporate growth and job creation, a survey shows.

The survey, conducted by the European Chamber of Commerce in China (EuroCham), showed that a decline in investor sentiment is leading to a slowdown in corporate growth and a reduction in job creation.

The results of the survey, which was conducted in May and June, indicate that investor sentiment is still negative, with a decline in investor sentiment leading to a slowdown in corporate growth and a reduction in job creation.

Iran Can Mediate Between Iraq, US: Official

TEHRAN - A senior Iranian official has expressed concern that the “transient mood” of that brings the US and Iran closer will not be maintained.

Tehran has been seeking to improve ties with US-based governments, and has called for a return to the 2015 nuclear deal, as the US has started pulling out of it.

US-Iran tensions have been on the rise, with the US President Donald Trump announcing sanctions and warnings of military action against Iran.

The Trump administration has been calling for a “maximum pressure campaign” against Iran, with a focus on its ballistic missile program, support for regional terror groups, and its alleged role in the 1979 hostage crisis.

If Saddam were to win, the US would face a much worse situation in the region, as he would be able to reassert the influence of Iraq on its neighbours.

Palestinians Give Cool Reception to US Peace Conference

Egypt Says after Bus Attack, 12 Militants Killed in Cairo

CAIRO - Egypt says security forces killed 12 members of a militant group with suspected links to the now-outlawed Muslim Brotherhood in a shootout in Cairo, just hours after a roadside bomb killed a tourist as it passed the Giza Pyramids, wounding at least 17.

The Interior Ministry said seven of the mili-

Palestinian militants killed in a firefight with Egyptian security forces on Monday.

Israel has been supporting the militants and has been accused of targeting the Egyptian military, as it has tried to prevent the militants from carrying out attacks.

Palestinians have been calling for the removal of the Egyptian military from the region, as they believe it is working with Israel to suppress the militants' activities.

South Korean Vows to Send Aid to North Quickly, May Send Food

SEOUL, South Korea - South Korea said on Monday it would quickly begin sending aid to North Korea, even though the two sides have been at war since 1950.

The White House announced Sunday that it would also supply medical aid, saying it was “ready to assist North Koreans who might be in need of medical assistance because of the conflict in Palestine.”

Korean leaders have been in talks with UN officials to send aid to North Korea, but have been hesitant to do so because of concerns about the political situation in the country.
