To develop in any country, it is possible without economic development. Economic development basically provides the foundation on which the building of the overall development can be constructed. The underdeveloped and developing countries can prove their way towards sustainable development if they are able to prepare themselves for economic stability. And, a country like Afghanistan that has been influenced to a great extent by war and instability needs to focus more on economic sector. In fact, economic development becomes the only panacea for Afghanistan at the moment. Emphasizing on the same, Second Vice President Mohammad Sarwar Danish in a conference on Sunday, May 21, said that economic development is essential for Afghanistan, but there are certain challenges that must be handled properly so as to develop the sector. He mentioned in his statement, "War, poverty, and lack of security are hampering economic development, unnecessary paper work and bureaucracy are also wasting time, therefore, the government has assigned the Ministry of Finance also one of the obligations for economic development and investment." No doubt that in the issues of insecurity, corruption, and bureaucratic hurdles are major problems in the way to economic development and particularly in the way to healthy investment. Therefore, it is vital that these issues must be comprehended and tackled properly so that Afghanistan is able to continue its journey towards a stable country in terms of economy, and it is able to gain the international self-reliance and will sufficiently to a certain extent. It is imperative for Afghan administration to comprehend that one of the ways the country would be able to face the serious challenges in different sectors is to achieve economic stability. A stable economic system would help in political stability and restoration of security. The country cannot keep on relying on the external support indefinitely. It has to stand on its own and face its economic challenges itself. Most importantly, it needs to let the businesses grow, support them and enable them to bear roots. Both national and international businessmen have assured the country of its journey towards a stable economic system.

However, the fact is the attention given to the economy of the system in the country is really insufficient. Moreover, the different institutions that play a role in this regard have been hampered by incapacity and corruption. And, without strong economic institutions, developing the basic infra-structure on which the economy is stability almost impossible. On the other hand, some international institutions that have been established to provide economic prosperity in Afghanistan Chamber of Commerce and Industries (ACCI). This institution has to be supported, groomed, and managed properly so that it should understand the responsibilities that are given to it. Moreover, the business community is facing serious challenges like kidnapping of businessmen, procurement issues and challenges, low quality of services especially in large projects, lack of electronic payment systems, failure to make the businesses grow, support them and enable them to bear roots. Both national and international businessmen have assured the country of its journey towards a stable economic system.

It is imperative for Afghan administration to comprehend that one of the ways the country would be able to face the serious challenges in different sectors is to achieve economic stability. A stable economic system would help in political stability and restoration of security. The country cannot keep on relying on the external support indefinitely. It has to stand on its own and face its economic challenges itself. Most importantly, it needs to let the businesses grow, support them and enable them to bear roots. Both national and international businessmen have assured the country of its journey towards a stable economic system.

However, the fact is the attention given to the economy of the system in the country is really insufficient. Moreover, the different institutions that play a role in this regard have been hampered by incapacity and corruption. And, without strong economic institutions, developing the basic infrastructure on which the economy is stability almost impossible. On the other hand, some international institutions that have been established to provide economic prosperity in Afghanistan Chamber of Commerce and Industries (ACCI). This institution has to be supported, groomed, and managed properly so that it should understand the responsibilities that are given to it. Moreover, the business community is facing serious challenges like kidnapping of businessmen, procurement issues and challenges, low quality of services especially in large projects, lack of electronic payment systems, failure to make the businesses grow, support them and enable them to bear roots. Both national and international businessmen have assured the country of its journey towards a stable economic system.

It is imperative for Afghan administration to comprehend that one of the ways the country would be able to face the serious challenges in different sectors is to achieve economic stability. A stable economic system would help in political stability and restoration of security. The country cannot keep on relying on the external support indefinitely. It has to stand on its own and face its economic challenges itself. Most importantly, it needs to let the businesses grow, support them and enable them to bear roots. Both national and international businessmen have assured the country of its journey towards a stable economic system.

However, the fact is the attention given to the economy of the system in the country is really insufficient. Moreover, the different institutions that play a role in this regard have been hampered by incapacity and corruption. And, without strong economic institutions, developing the basic infrastructure on which the economy is stability almost impossible. On the other hand, some international institutions that have been established to provide economic prosperity in Afghanistan Chamber of Commerce and Industries (ACCI). This institution has to be supported, groomed, and managed properly so that it should understand the responsibilities that are given to it. Moreover, the business community is facing serious challenges like kidnapping of businessmen, procurement issues and challenges, low quality of services especially in large projects, lack of electronic payment systems, failure to make the businesses grow, support them and enable them to bear roots. Both national and international businessmen have assured the country of its journey towards a stable economic system.

It is imperative for Afghan administration to comprehend that one of the ways the country would be able to face the serious challenges in different sectors is to achieve economic stability. A stable economic system would help in political stability and restoration of security. The country cannot keep on relying on the external support indefinitely. It has to stand on its own and face its economic challenges itself. Most importantly, it needs to let the businesses grow, support them and enable them to bear roots. Both national and international businessmen have assured the country of its journey towards a stable economic system.