Rouhani Calls Donald Trump "Intellectually Unstable"

Turkey Summons U.S. Ambassador over Clash

During Erdogan's U.S. Visit

ANKARA - Turkish Foreign Minister Mevlut Cavusoglu summoned U.S. Ambassador to Turkey John Bass over a clash outside the Turkish embassy in Washington, D.C., during President Erdogan's visit to Washington last week.

In a statement released on Monday, Cavusoglu tore into the U.S. for agitating against the "aggression" of American soldiers in Syria, threatening "unholy" sanctions against the country, and over actions in the foreign minister's own country, "Turkey's territorial integrity.

The ministry said a "written and verbal protest was delivered to the U.S. ambassador over the actions of a handful of personnel that were engaged in a closed-door meeting in front of the Turkish mission in Washington, D.C.

Cavusoglu said a unarmed security officer stood guard to block the entrance of the Turkish embassy complex.

"This is a matter of the latest development in the region. US. authorities are also being informed," the mission said in a statement.

The United States has been trying to bridge the gap between the United States and Turkey, with several high-level meetings taking place between the two countries. The most recent meeting was between U.S. Secretary of State Mike Pompeo and Turkish Foreign Minister Mevlut Cavusoglu in Washington, D.C., on September 1. Both sides expressed their commitment to maintaining a strong relationship between the two countries, despite occasional tensions.

---

Prosecutors Ask for 46 Years in Prison for Flynn

UN Vows to Tighten Sanctions on North Korea

UN Security Council votes to tighten sanctions on North Korea.

The UN Security Council voted unanimously on Monday to impose new sanctions on North Korea in response to its latest nuclear test.

The resolution, which was adopted by the 15-member council, includes measures to cut off funding for North Korea’s nuclear and ballistic missile programs.

German Lawmakers to Travel to Turkey

UNICEF Seeks $148 Million to Help Somalian Women, Children

In a statement, UNICEF said it was appealing for $148 million to help Somali women and children in the country.

The appeal comes as the situation in Somalia remains dire, with widespread food insecurity and displacement ongoing. The agency is calling on donors to respond to the rapidly deteriorating humanitarian situation in the country.

Urges Muslims World to Unite Against Terrorism

India’s Election Commissions Delays Referendum Polls

NEW DELHI - India’s independent Election Commission has decided on Monday to put held elections on hold due to the ongoing crisis in Kashmir.

The commission has ordered that the election process in Kashmir be suspended and a fresh decision will be taken once the situation in the region is normal.

Turkey and Pakistan launches new joint committee on economic cooperation.

Iron Curtain Falls 30 Years Ago: A Look Back

The fall of the Berlin Wall on November 9, 1989, marked the end of the Cold War and the beginning of a new era in European history.

On this day, the Berlin Wall was opened, allowing people to move freely from East to West for the first time in decades.

The fall of the Berlin Wall marked the end of the Cold War and the beginning of a new era in European history. It sparked a wave of political changes across Eastern Europe and the former Soviet Union, leading to the collapse of communism in many countries and the dismantling of the Iron Curtain.

The fall of the Berlin Wall also had significant implications for Germany, which was reunified in 1990, and for international relations, leading to increased cooperation and economic integration in Europe.

---

Former CIA Chief to Head New Russia Monitoring Group

WASHINGTON — Former CIA Director John Brennan will head a new intelligence oversight body created in response to concerns over Russian meddling in U.S. elections.

The new body, called the Russian Election Campaign Authority, will be responsible for investigating claims of Russian interference in the 2016 presidential election.

Brennan, who previously served as the CIA’s top counterintelligence official, announced the creation of the authority on Thursday.

The new group will work closely with the Senate Intelligence Committee and the House Intelligence Committee, which are also examining the role of Russia in the election.

---

Trump Affirms Peace is “Possible” between Israel and Palestinians

WASHINGTON: President Donald Trump on Tuesday that peace between Israel and the Palestinians is “possible”.

"Peace will never be easy," Trump said in a speech to the United Nations General Assembly, shortly before departing to Switzerland for the World Economic Forum. "But we need to keep working towards that goal."

He added that his administration would work to create a "framework" for peace talks, and that the United States would provide "full support" for such efforts.

Trump also said that his visit to Jerusalem on Sunday, shortly before visiting the Western Wall, was a "historic" event and that it would help to create a "framework" for peace talks.

---

Iranready to travel to Europe for talks with Europe over its nuclear program.

Trudeau says visiting the Philippines is "very exciting"

Prime Minister Justin Trudeau said on Monday that his visit to the Philippines is "very exciting" and that it will be an opportunity to strengthen Canada's relationship with the Southeast Asian country.

Trudeau, who is on an official visit to the Philippines, said that he is looking forward to meeting with President Rodrigo Duterte and discussing a range of issues, including trade and security.

---

Nepal declares Sunday a public holiday to mark India’s Independence Day.

KATHMANDU: Nepal on Sunday declared a public holiday to mark India's Independence Day.

The day is observed by the people of Nepal to honor the Indian independence movement and to celebrate the end of British rule in India.

---

CIA Director to testify before Congress on Russian interference in 2016 election.

WASHINGTON: Former CIA Director John Brennan will testify before Congress on the role of Russia in the 2016 presidential election.

Brennan, who previously served as the CIA’s top counterintelligence official, announced the creation of the authority on Thursday.

The new group will work closely with the Senate Intelligence Committee and the House Intelligence Committee, which are also examining the role of Russia in the election.

---

Russia’s foreign minister says his country has not witnessed any "intervention from the outside", including from the U.S.

MOSCOW: Russia’s foreign minister said on Sunday that his country has not witnessed any "intervention from the outside", including from the U.S.

Sergei Lavrov said that the United States and its allies have "no right to interfere" in the internal affairs of other countries.

---

UN Security Council votes to tighten sanctions on North Korea.

The resolution, which was adopted by the 15-member council, includes measures to cut off funding for North Korea’s nuclear and ballistic missile programs.

The UN Security Council has imposed new sanctions on North Korea in response to its latest nuclear test.

The resolution, which was adopted by the 15-member council, includes measures to cut off funding for North Korea’s nuclear and ballistic missile programs.

---

CIA Director to testify before Congress on Russian interference in 2016 election.

WASHINGTON: Former CIA Director John Brennan will testify before Congress on the role of Russia in the 2016 presidential election.

Brennan, who previously served as the CIA’s top counterintelligence official, announced the creation of the authority on Thursday.

The new group will work closely with the Senate Intelligence Committee and the House Intelligence Committee, which are also examining the role of Russia in the election.

---

UNICEF Seeks $148 Million to Help Somalian Women, Children

The agency is calling on donors to respond to the rapidly deteriorating humanitarian situation in the country.

---

Urges Muslims World to Unite Against Terrorism

Trudeau says visiting the Philippines is “very exciting”

Prime Minister Justin Trudeau said on Monday that his visit to the Philippines is "very exciting" and that it will be an opportunity to strengthen Canada's relationship with the Southeast Asian country.

Trudeau, who is on an official visit to the Philippines, said that he is looking forward to meeting with President Rodrigo Duterte and discussing a range of issues, including trade and security.

---

Iron Curtain Falls 30 Years Ago: A Look Back

The fall of the Berlin Wall on November 9, 1989, marked the end of the Cold War and the beginning of a new era in European history.

On this day, the Berlin Wall was opened, allowing people to move freely from East to West for the first time in decades.

The fall of the Berlin Wall marked the end of the Cold War and the beginning of a new era in European history. It sparked a wave of political changes across Eastern Europe and the former Soviet Union, leading to the collapse of communism in many countries and the dismantling of the Iron Curtain.

The fall of the Berlin Wall also had significant implications for Germany, which was reunified in 1990, and for international relations, leading to increased cooperation and economic integration in Europe.