1) IS Plans to... 11-11-15

In preparedness for an expected increase in combat missions in Iraq, President Obama has approved a plan to increase the number of US troops in the country to 5,200, raising the total number to 13,000, according to media reports.

Obama, who had been considering a reduction in the number of troops in Iraq, decided to increase the number of troops after receiving assurances from the Iraqi government that it would fight the Islamic State and that it would commit to a new phase of its military campaign.

2) IS’ South... 11-11-15

The Islamic State (IS) group is believed to have seized control of a large area of territory in southern Afghanistan, according to sources in the Afghan military.

The group has been expanding its presence in the region, and its fighters are said to be operating in parts of the country that are rich in natural resources, including oil and gas.

3) IS’ Leadership... 11-11-15

IS leader Abu Bakr al-Baghdadi has been re-elected as the leader of the group, according to a statement released by the group’s media arm.

The statement did not provide any details about the re-election, but it is believed that Baghdadi has held the position since the group was founded in 2014.

4) IS’ Finances... 11-11-15

A new study has revealed that the Islamic State (IS) group is able to generate significant revenue from the sale of oil and gas fields.

The group is believed to have control over a number of oil and gas fields in Syria and Iraq, and it is estimated that the group generates between $500 million and $1 billion per year from these fields.

5) IS’ Relations... 11-11-15

The Islamic State (IS) group has been actively seeking to strengthen its ties with other groups in the region, including the Taliban and al-Qaeda.

These relations are seen as important for the group’s ability to expand its influence and to secure resources.

6) IS’ Ideology... 11-11-15

The Islamic State (IS) group has been described as a totalitarian regime, with a strict interpretation of Islamic law.

The group is known for its use of violence and its attacks on civilian targets, and it is believed to be responsible for a number of deadly terrorist attacks in recent years.

7) IS’ Tactics... 11-11-15

The Islamic State (IS) group has been using a variety of tactics to spread its influence, including the use of social media and the Internet.

These tactics are believed to be effective in recruiting new members and spreading the group’s message.

8) IS’ Allegations... 11-11-15

The Islamic State (IS) group has been accused of a number of atrocities, including the beheading of prisoners and the execution of civilians.

These allegations are seen as evidence of the group’s brutality and its willingness to use violence to achieve its goals.