Stop Environmental Degradation

A mong the international issues that have been influencing the human beings, the deterioration of environment through different means has been one of the major issues that need to be dealt with. Such views have their importance but taking care of the environment must never be neglected. There can be changes in the climate but it cannot be neglected altogether. For example, there can be changes in the climate due to global warming. Nevertheless, it must never be forgotten that there are still some important concerns that most of the environmentalists have been focusing on.

Tolerance: An Indispensable Feature of Modern Societies

By Asmayati

The world was passing through an abysmally dark forest, struck a sleeping lion. The lion woke up to his grazing. Having interrupted his grazing, the lion tried to catch and kill him. It had been a long time since a group of hunters, cleverly netted the lion that could hardly be evaded. Perhaps it was turned out to be the day the mouse had to pay. On recognizing the difference, the lion dragged it out of the net, held the rope with his teeth, and set him free. It was surprising for lion to find little mouse brave and ready to help him out, who was even aware that he had indeed rescued him. This holistically applies to society where people get to discriminate every other individual on the basis of race, color, creed, religions, religion ethnicity etc. Amongst bunch of dilettantes, this stereotype is well imbibed and contributed to the break of what we today worship.

The world has not been set in the pattern, nor have man been shaped in a single mould. Difference, in environment or condition, is an inseparable part of temperamental evolution and has led to diversities in outlook. Each distinctive environment has its own background.

One of the fallouts of the much discussed globalization process is the discussion on the disintegration of cultural differences, predominantly the current culture, ethnicity and backgrounds. How one manages this heterogeneous state of affairs and sustains the diversity will be an important criterion for the quality of survival of humanity. Thus accepting and valuing differences between people, accepting that such differences enrich us is of utmost importance. It acknowledges the uniqueness of reality and cherishes the many human faces of that reality. When we are tolerant we watch and listen to understand what the other people think from a new perspective. We then try to find more ways to make peace with them.

Anarchism and intolerance seem to be on the upgrade, of late. Extremist terror groups in their help of sophisticated weapons are seeking to destabilize a country, taking heavy toll in innocent lives. Many young, challenging all existing norms, norms, now parades the world. Tolerance has been cast as a weapon to emancipate those at the bottom and stop them from being divided. They will have to be careful as not to become puppets in the hands of an extremist. Their voices can be utilized through the social networking sites but also have to move with caution so that they do not get caught with their hands. Tolerance is not only a quality of our everyday life. Having inhibited the in-depth socio-political worth of tolerance it should be practiced as an integral part of the fabric of society. Without the grassroot collective, we will be free from all the pain of every century.

On International Day of Student

By Muhammad Rasool Shah

November 19, 2015

A fter 1945, there was unprecedented rise of tension in the world. This led to the establishment of International Student’s Day. Student’s Day was established to create a world of peace and understanding between human beings. This day is observed to bring forward the spirit of humanity, love, brotherhood and cooperation among students. The first day of the establishment of International Student’s Day was observed on 19th November 1946.

International Student’s Day is observed to promote peace, friendship among students of different countries and cultures. International Student’s Day is observed to recognize the importance of this day and also of an important role they can play in the development of the country. Today, we are standing at a stage where many senior minds think that we have to be serious about saving our earth from the menace of pollution and climate change.

There are some important concerns that most of the environmental scientists are focusing on. One of the first is the deterioration of natural environment to the extent that it can prove to be harmful for the survival of humanity. Thus accepting and valuing differences between people, accepting that such differences enrich us is of utmost importance. It acknowledges the uniqueness of reality and cherishes the many human faces of that reality. When we are tolerant we watch and listen to understand what the other people think from a new perspective. We then try to find more ways to make peace with them.
