Afghan Forces Attempt to Rescue Soldiers Held by Taliban

Iranian President
Terrorism Knows No Boundaries

Clear

Afghan forces attempt to rescue soldiers held by Taliban.

KABUL - National Directorate of Security (NDS) sources said Thursday that 16 military personnel were rescued from Taliban captivity.

In a letter issued by the NDS, sources were given to move from one theater due to security problems.

“A letter was sent by the NDS, Chashm-e-Shahriar (division) of the NDS where it stated that Khalilzad should be transferred to Shah Arzum Hospital due to diabetes and cardiac diseases in order to take care of him,” said Mr. Salih, head of Baghram Prison.

Asked whether an investigation agency had the authority to transfer a prisoner, Salih said: “Should we leave a sick prisoner behind?”

In the past, Afghan intelligence groups have been targeted by the Taliban, surrounding the helicopter, taking a shot that killed two Afghan soldiers and wounded five.

Pakistan considers extending deadline for Afghan refugees

Pakistan has extended the deadline for Afghan refugees to leave the country for another year.

The Pakistani government decided to extend the deadline for the repatriation of Afghan refugees to one year instead of six months.

This decision is based on the request of the Afghan government.

Pakistan has been hosting Afghan refugees for over three decades, and the deadline was set to expire in December 2023.

Afghan refugees were on the verge of being repatriated, but due to the security situation in Afghanistan, the deadline was extended.

The extension of the deadline will provide Afghan refugees with more time to return to Afghanistan, which is currently facing a challenging security situation.

KABUL - Afghan refugees in Pakistan have been facing an uncertain future, with the government deciding to extend the deadline for their repatriation.

The Pakistan government decided to extend the deadline for the repatriation of Afghan refugees to one year instead of six months.

This decision is based on the request of the Afghan government.

Pakistan has been hosting Afghan refugees for over three decades, and the deadline was set to expire in December 2023.

Afghan refugees were on the verge of being repatriated, but due to the security situation in Afghanistan, the deadline was extended.

The extension of the deadline will provide Afghan refugees with more time to return to Afghanistan, which is currently facing a challenging security situation.

KABUL - Afghan refugees in Pakistan have been facing an uncertain future, with the government deciding to extend the deadline for their repatriation.

The Pakistan government decided to extend the deadline for the repatriation of Afghan refugees to one year instead of six months.

This decision is based on the request of the Afghan government.

Pakistan has been hosting Afghan refugees for over three decades, and the deadline was set to expire in December 2023.

Afghan refugees were on the verge of being repatriated, but due to the security situation in Afghanistan, the deadline was extended.

The extension of the deadline will provide Afghan refugees with more time to return to Afghanistan, which is currently facing a challenging security situation.

KABUL - Afghan refugees in Pakistan have been facing an uncertain future, with the government deciding to extend the deadline for their repatriation.

The Pakistan government decided to extend the deadline for the repatriation of Afghan refugees to one year instead of six months.

This decision is based on the request of the Afghan government.

Pakistan has been hosting Afghan refugees for over three decades, and the deadline was set to expire in December 2023.

Afghan refugees were on the verge of being repatriated, but due to the security situation in Afghanistan, the deadline was extended.

The extension of the deadline will provide Afghan refugees with more time to return to Afghanistan, which is currently facing a challenging security situation.

KABUL - Afghan refugees in Pakistan have been facing an uncertain future, with the government deciding to extend the deadline for their repatriation.

The Pakistan government decided to extend the deadline for the repatriation of Afghan refugees to one year instead of six months.

This decision is based on the request of the Afghan government.

Pakistan has been hosting Afghan refugees for over three decades, and the deadline was set to expire in December 2023.

Afghan refugees were on the verge of being repatriated, but due to the security situation in Afghanistan, the deadline was extended.

The extension of the deadline will provide Afghan refugees with more time to return to Afghanistan, which is currently facing a challenging security situation.

KABUL - Afghan refugees in Pakistan have been facing an uncertain future, with the government deciding to extend the deadline for their repatriation.

The Pakistan government decided to extend the deadline for the repatriation of Afghan refugees to one year instead of six months.

This decision is based on the request of the Afghan government.

Pakistan has been hosting Afghan refugees for over three decades, and the deadline was set to expire in December 2023.

Afghan refugees were on the verge of being repatriated, but due to the security situation in Afghanistan, the deadline was extended.

The extension of the deadline will provide Afghan refugees with more time to return to Afghanistan, which is currently facing a challenging security situation.

KABUL - Afghan refugees in Pakistan have been facing an uncertain future, with the government deciding to extend the deadline for their repatriation.

The Pakistan government decided to extend the deadline for the repatriation of Afghan refugees to one year instead of six months.

This decision is based on the request of the Afghan government.

Pakistan has been hosting Afghan refugees for over three decades, and the deadline was set to expire in December 2023.

Afghan refugees were on the verge of being repatriated, but due to the security situation in Afghanistan, the deadline was extended.

The extension of the deadline will provide Afghan refugees with more time to return to Afghanistan, which is currently facing a challenging security situation.

KABUL - Afghan refugees in Pakistan have been facing an uncertain future, with the government deciding to extend the deadline for their repatriation.

The Pakistan government decided to extend the deadline for the repatriation of Afghan refugees to one year instead of six months.

This decision is based on the request of the Afghan government.

Pakistan has been hosting Afghan refugees for over three decades, and the deadline was set to expire in December 2023.

Afghan refugees were on the verge of being repatriated, but due to the security situation in Afghanistan, the deadline was extended.

The extension of the deadline will provide Afghan refugees with more time to return to Afghanistan, which is currently facing a challenging security situation.