How to Achieve National Integration?

At the doublets and ambiguities about the prosperity and development in Afghanistan, in the near future, are on the rise, it is imperative for the decision makers to divert their attentions to the most neglected aspects in implementation of policies and decisions - the aspect that can ensure a participatory approach. It is imperative that the welfare of the entire society and the entire groups and relevant stake-holders be involved in the process. Otherwise, the nation will continue to experience a sort of negligence society - those groups that may later multiply the issues that cause disintegration of Afghan society. For example, it is widely agreed that a lasting solution for Afghanistan is not through the war; it is political solution alone that has the hope of stability and prosperity. An international commission and national committee should be set up for the purpose of achieving a lasting and comprehensive solution in the near future.

For integration to happen, it is vital that the decision makers and policy makers to divert their attentions to the most neglected aspects in implementation of policies and decisions - the aspect that can ensure a participatory approach. It is imperative that the welfare of the entire society and the entire groups and relevant stake-holders be involved in the process. Otherwise, the nation will experience a sort of negligence society - those groups that may later multiply the issues that cause disintegration of Afghan society. For example, it is widely agreed that a lasting solution for Afghanistan is not through the war; it is political solution alone that has the hope of stability and prosperity. An international commission and national committee should be set up for the purpose of achieving a lasting and comprehensive solution in the near future.

For integration to happen, it is vital that the decision makers and policy makers to divert their attentions to the most neglected aspects in implementation of policies and decisions - the aspect that can ensure a participatory approach. It is imperative that the welfare of the entire society and the entire groups and relevant stake-holders be involved in the process. Otherwise, the nation will experience a sort of negligence society - those groups that may later multiply the issues that cause disintegration of Afghan society. For example, it is widely agreed that a lasting solution for Afghanistan is not through the war; it is political solution alone that has the hope of stability and prosperity. An international commission and national committee should be set up for the purpose of achieving a lasting and comprehensive solution in the near future.

For integration to happen, it is vital that the decision makers and policy makers to divert their attentions to the most neglected aspects in implementation of policies and decisions - the aspect that can ensure a participatory approach. It is imperative that the welfare of the entire society and the entire groups and relevant stake-holders be involved in the process. Otherwise, the nation will experience a sort of negligence society - those groups that may later multiply the issues that cause disintegration of Afghan society. For example, it is widely agreed that a lasting solution for Afghanistan is not through the war; it is political solution alone that has the hope of stability and prosperity. An international commission and national committee should be set up for the purpose of achieving a lasting and comprehensive solution in the near future.

For integration to happen, it is vital that the decision makers and policy makers to divert their attentions to the most neglected aspects in implementation of policies and decisions - the aspect that can ensure a participatory approach. It is imperative that the welfare of the entire society and the entire groups and relevant stake-holders be involved in the process. Otherwise, the nation will experience a sort of negligence society - those groups that may later multiply the issues that cause disintegration of Afghan society. For example, it is widely agreed that a lasting solution for Afghanistan is not through the war; it is political solution alone that has the hope of stability and prosperity. An international commission and national committee should be set up for the purpose of achieving a lasting and comprehensive solution in the near future.

For integration to happen, it is vital that the decision makers and policy makers to divert their attentions to the most neglected aspects in implementation of policies and decisions - the aspect that can ensure a participatory approach. It is imperative that the welfare of the entire society and the entire groups and relevant stake-holders be involved in the process. Otherwise, the nation will experience a sort of negligence society - those groups that may later multiply the issues that cause disintegration of Afghan society. For example, it is widely agreed that a lasting solution for Afghanistan is not through the war; it is political solution alone that has the hope of stability and prosperity. An international commission and national committee should be set up for the purpose of achieving a lasting and comprehensive solution in the near future.